53 Leaders Under Martial Arrest

MANILA (AP) — Fifty-three prominent Filipinos, including two provincial governors, six members of Congress and seven newspapermen, have been arrested in the Manila region since martial law was proclaimed over the weekend, the presidential palace announced today.

Press Secretary Francisco Tatad provided the first official confirmation of the arrests over the single television channel still operating. All but selected media outlets have been closed and news being sent abroad is censored.

Tatad spoke as the island nation awaited details of farreaching reforms planned by President Ferdinand E. Marcos' government to create what it described as a "new society."

Marcos said he was assuming martial law powers and reorganizing his government to block an insurrection threatened by Mao-oriented Communists and to improve conditions for the masses who live in acute poverty.

In his announcement, Tatad said four of the prominent persons detained had subsequently been released.

Among those still under detention were Sen. Benigno Aquino Jr., a leader of the opposition Liberal party, an outspoken critic of Marcos and a possible candidate for the presidency in 1973 elections; Sen. Jose Diokno, member of the civil liberties union; and Sen. Ramon Mitra, another prominent member of the opposition.

A palace official said the announced arrests covered only the Greater Manila area, suggesting that more have been made in the provinces.

Announcement of the detentions confirmed speculation that had been sweeping Manila during a news blackout that followed proclamation of martial law.

In lightning moves, Marcos closed down all but one of Manila's 15 daily newspapers, shut six of the city's seven television stations and nine of the major radio stations.

He has also issued a series of "general orders" aimed, the palace said, at saving the republic from Communist rebellion and creating a "new society."

The measures resulted in:

—Closing of all but selected media outlets and censorship of news sent abroad.

—A temporary ban on Filipinos travelling abroad.

—National control of airlines and sky marshals aboard all planes to thwart possible hijacking.

—Closing of all schools for a week.

—The death penalty for illegal possession of firearms, the start of disarming the many private armies and security forces in this country.

—A ban on all public demonstrations, rallies and labor strikes.

The government has also promised a thorough reorganization to root out "corruption, incompetence and uselessness" and a crackdown against crime syndicates.

Arkansas Man Killed, 16 Injured In SeMo

One fatality and 16 injuries occurred in 11 accidents on area roads and highways during the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

John W. Hatley, 49, of Gilmore, Ark., died at 7:35 p.m. when he lost control of his car, ran through a bridge railing and overturned. The accident occurred on Highway 102 two and one-half miles southeast of East Prairie.

An accident at 3:10 p.m. Saturday on a gravel road five miles south of Dexter resulted in a bump on the head to Charlotte Jo Ann Triplett, 19, of Dexter. She hit a hole of water, lost control and overturned. She was treated at Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Three persons were injured Saturday at 3 p.m. on Route N four miles south of Illmo. Joyce Geraldine Cox, 27, of Commerce received a wrist injury and head cuts, Tonya Cox, 3, a concussion, and Richard Clay, 7, a shoulder injury when Mrs. Cox applied her brakes on wet pavement, skidded and ran off road.

At 1:45 a.m. Saturday a pickup truck driven by Denver Alvis Jackson, 28, of Gideon struck a bridge railing on Highway 25 one-half mile east of Holcomb. Jackson received cuts on his face and was treated and released at Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Two cars collided at 10:35 a.m. Saturday on Highway 25 three miles north of Dexter. A car driven by Franklin Spencer, 26, of Caroline Beach, N. C., ran into the rear of a car driven by Jake Brewbaker, 60, of Beardstown, Ill. Injured was Joe Lee McCoy of Lobeville Tenn., apparently a passenger in the Brewbaker auto. He was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital with a broken rib and nose.

At 6:20 p.m. Saturday at the junction of Highway 72 and 34 three miles west of Jackson, an accident occurred involving two cars and injuring two persons. Roy Ray Grindstaff, 51, of Carbondale, Ill., attempted to make a left turn in front of a car driven by Dayton Rusby Green, 34, of Jackson, who could not stop and struck the Grindstaff auto.

Injured was Majorie E. Grandstaff, 47, with hip injuries, and Katie K. Green, with hip, chest and back injuries. Both were taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A pickup truck driven by Paul Allen Henderson, 28, of Fredericktown ran off the road Saturday, struck abridge abutment and overturned. The accident occurred at 10:30 p.m. on Route T six miles west of Fredericktown. Henderson received facial cuts and scratches and was treated at Farmington Community Hospital.

At 4:15 p.m. Sunday on North Rives Township Road, a motorcycle driven by Tommy Steven Staggs, 18, of Hornersville struck a car driven by Zelma Laury Lindsay, 21, of Steele. Staggs

Democrats To Discuss Voter Registration

An organizational meeting for a Democratic voter registration drive will be held at 8:15 p.m., Tuesday at the community room of First National Bank.

The drive will continue for about two weeks and anyone who can give even a few minutes a day is needed. It is not necessary that one be above 18 to take part.

We want everyone interested in the Democratic Party to attend, young as well as old, black, as well as white, and women as well as men.

All citizens should be able to support the goal of making this election the most responsive to the will of the American people of any election in history. In order to achieve this goal we must work so that all qualified and concerned citizens are registered."

Court Okays Petitions For Referendum

NEW MADRID — New Madrid County Court this morning approved petitions for a referendum on voter registration in the county. Court clerk Jesse H. Wilkins said the proposal will be voted on in the Nov. 7 general election.

The petitions, endorsed by 2,102 county voters, were presented to the court Thursday.

Guns Taken From Home

DEXTER — Two guns were taken from the Paul Cox home on North Sassafras Street in Dexter between 2 p.m. and midnight Sunday.

Entrance was made by breaking a lock on a front door. Investigation is under way.

Cash, Drugs Stolen

MOREHOUSE — A total of $1,000 worth of dangerous class two drugs and an estimated $600 in cash were stolen when two safes were pelled at the Morehouse Drug Company in a break-in at 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

New Madrid County Deputh Sheriff Bo Wingo said tools used in the burglary were stolen from a construction company just across the alley from the drug store after the shooting of a watchdog.

Charles O. Rauch, owner of the drug company, said today that he will no longer carry class two drugs' since they seem to be an incentive for thieves. The company has been robbed three times this year.

The robbers were seen leaving in a 1965 or 1966 tan car with the right tail light missing. The investigation is being continued by highway patrol special investigator N.F., Mobley, patrol Cpl. Melvin Moyers and Deputy Wingo.

Fenton Clinic Burglarized

CHARLESTON —The Fenton Clinical Group at 1200 East Marshall Street was entered sometime between midnight and 6 a.m. Sunday, and an estimated $400 worth of drugs and $150 in cash was taken.

The thieves apparently entered the building through an air vent in the roof. Fingerprints have been taken and sent to Jefferson City for positive identification. City policemen Walter Welch and Willie Jarrett are investigating.

Two Arrested For Tape Player Thefts

Police arrested two teen-agers early this morning after they were discovered with two tape players stolen earlier from the Malone & Hyde Inc. parking lot.

Arrested were Danny Price, 17, of 105 Westgate for stealing over $50 and John Everett, 18, of Route Four for stealing over $50 and possession of a concealed weapon.

Price was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary for felonious stealing May 1971. Prosecuting Attorney Tom Gilmore said he thought Price was released from prison earlier this month, but his records do not show the exact release date.

Police were called at 2:40 a.m. to Malone & Hyde by Charles Lewis of 817 Agnes, after he found his tape player and four tapes missing from his car.

While officer Otis Applewhite was looking over the car, Ron Reed of Route Four, Box 235, told Applewhite that a tape player had been taken from his car, also.

About that time, a Malone and Hyde truck driver called the firm and said two youths were trying to sell tape players at the South Side Cafe on South Main.

When Applewhite arrived, the driver pointed out Price and Everett, who were sitting with three other young people.

Both Price and Everett denied having the tape players. Applewhite began checking Everett's car and allegedly found a .22-caliber pistol and a knife hidden under the front seat. He found two tape players in the trunk of the car.

Both youths denied any knowledge of the players.

Reed and Lewis both identified the tape players as the ones they had lost.

Other arrests over the weekend included:

Offer Course Here In Real Estate Appraisal

PORTAGEVILLE —Kathryn Kinnard, area continuing education programmer at Delta Research Center, has announced that a short course in rural and urban real estate appraisal will be offered on Monday evenings, Nov. 6 through Dec. 11 at two area locations.

Instructors for the course, which is being presented simultaneously in Kennett and Sikeston, are Dr. Durward Brewer, associate professor in the Agricultural Economics Department, and Dr. Jake Looney, an attorney, also with the Agricultural Economics Department, both of the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Subject areas to be explained and discussed are basic principles of real property law, the approach used in estimating property value, a legal description of instruments of transfer, mathematical tables and their use in appraising and restriction on land use.

The course is designed for real estate firms and their employees, property owners, appraisors of property for loans and security and for persons interested in becoming informed in this developing field.

The sessions will begin in the Community room at Bank of Kennett at 7 p.m., Nov. 6 and in Sikeston High School at 7:30 p.m. on the same date.

Elliott Newton Real Estate and Insurance Co., Sikeston; Don Jones, Realtor, Kennett; Rigdon-Sexton Mortgage Service, Kennett; Alvyn Smith, Monarch Real Estate, Dexter; Wayne Bond, Caruthersville; Thomas A. Bennett Realty Co., Charleston; Arline Avery, Agriculture Representative, New Madrid; and Bob McAlister, Portageville.

Send fees of only $10 a person to local University of Missouri Extension Centers and Mrs. Kathyrn Kinnard, Area Continuing Education Programmer, P.O. Box 160, Portageville, Mo. 63873 by the enrollment deadline Oct. 30.

WHO VOTES
IN AMERICA?

It seems that in the last few years people are increasingly interested in politics. Women, youths and minorities are swelling the voting ranks, while the unemployed, poor and uneducated become more politically conscious.

Nothing proves this more than youth voting. In 1968, only one-third of the 18-20 year olds (allowed to vote in some states) went to the polls. In the 1970 Congressional races, a mere 26% voted.

Mature citizens vote much more regularly. In 1968, 75% of the 45-64 age group went to the polls. Slightly over half of the 21-24 bracket did. Even the over-65 group topped them (66%).

Rushing to conclusions is obviously a mistake. For example, men vote in higher percentages than women. The men led in 1968, 70% to 66%, and in 1970, 57% to 53%. Those earning over $10,000 yearly vote in higher percentages and those making less, 80% to 65%.

Lack of education is another landmark of poor voting records. Over 80% of the people with more than high school educations voted in 1968, the highest of any educational group. Only 75% of all eligible high school graduates voted, and the figures decline from here.

Should someone argue that the unemployed, worried about job changes, go to the polls more frequently, he would be wrong. In 1968, 71% of the employed voted, but only 52% of the unemployed did. Those not even in the labor force (mostly homemakers) had a higher percentage, 63%.

Given the near- universal suffrage, it goes without saying that everyone ought to vote. Americans, however, are going to the polls less.

For the Congressional election years 1962, 1966 and 1970, voting percentages declined, from 47% to 46% to 44%.

Presidential elections have also seen smaller percentages of voters going to the polls. In 1960, 64% of those eligible cast their ballots. In 1964, 63%, and in 1968, 62%. Congressional elections likewise plummeted (1960, 60%; 1964, 59%; 1968, 57%).

Carping about being "alienated" and being ignored by the "power structure" is palaver when one looks at the facts. Groups, from youths to farmers, complain that no one cares what happens to them. But they themselves do not care (e.g., urban residents vote in higher percentages than rural ones). Until the fault-finders show some interest in the "system," it is not likely that the system will show the interest in them they think they deserve.

SOLONS ON THE GO
AT TAXPAYERS EXPENSE

Speaking of the capital, Congress made 1971 a record year for foreign travel. Members of both houses and staff spent $1,114,386 in public funds on trips abroad, according to a Congressional Quarterly study of congressional travel, up from $825,118 the previous year.

More than half the membership of Congress -- 221 representatives and 53 senators -- at some time during the year was abroad on official business.

THE PRINTED WORD

Advertising experts have discovered that only forty per cent of the U.S. population accounts for 68% of all television viewing. More interesting other studies indicate the television advertiser -- unless he spends as much as his competition -- may actually contribute to his competitor's sales.

Newspapers and magazines are beginning to profit from these findings and the advertiser is beginning to reassess his advertising budget in many cases. This is often logical because it is known that light television viewers (as apart from those who view more television) tend to be among the higher economic brackets, better educated and better buyers. (In other words, the more ignorant watch more television.)

Those who wish to reach the more affluent market can often do so better with printed advertisements. The printed word, as has been true for centuries, is a permanent record. One doesn't have to hurry through print or miss the raz-ma-taz message. It's effective for a long time, and can be read by a dozen or more people at different times and on different days.

RAISING THE MINIMUM

The Senate has voted to increase the minimum wage level and to extend it to workers who now are not covered. The effect of this proposal would be to give immediate raises to more than six million workers who now earn less than $2 an hour and to give additional raises in the next two years.

The Senate approval came on a rather surprising 65-to-27 vote after the administration proposal for a lesser increase had been defeated by a single vote.

It provides that most workers in manufacturing and retail jobs would get a minimum of $2 an hour this year and $2.20 an hour in 1974. Workers in schools, colleges, laundries, hotels and restaurants would go to $1.80 this year, $2 next year and to $2.20 in 1974.

Workers on the nation's large farms would get increases from the present minimum of $1.30 an hour to $1.60 this year, $1.80 next year, $2 in 1974 and $2.20 in 1975.

The proposal also would extend minimum wages to household maids, gardeners and other such help, but not to babysitters. Other new workers to be covered would be employes of motion picture theaters and seasonal harvest workers on large farms.

This now must go to a conference committee to be reconciled with the legislation passed by the House May 11. That bill would raise the minimum for most manufacturing and retail workers from $1.60 to $1.80 this year, and to $2 in 1973. It offers workers in schools, colleges, laundries, hotels and restaurants a $1.70 minimum which would rise to $1.80 in 1973 and agricultural workers an increase from $1.30 to $1.50 and to $1.70 a year later.

There has been no indication yet as to how the conferees will seek to adjust these differences, but there have been reports the Senate conferees might be willing to accept a somewhat smaller increase in the minimums in return for broader coverage than the House bill would provide.

It is difficult to see how some increase in the minimums can be put off. The Fair Labor Standards Act has not been amended since 1966, and wage rates have increased tremendously since then for those who have been in a position to bargain effectively. This means that the cost of living has soared for those who must for any reason still depend upon federal minimum wage rates.

Some argue that raising the minimums is inflationary. That is a doubtful argument, for as has been pointed out here before those receiving such wages were actually the victims of inflation and not its authors.

There is something to the argument that increased minimums can have an adverse effect upon some workers, however, if their jobs are marginal. One needs only to recall how minimum wages resulted in a sudden disappearance of the task of operating elevators to understand what is involved in this area.

Both the House and Senate bills now under consideration do make some provision for protecting students. The Senate bill would allow them to work parttime during the school year and fulltime during vacations at 85 per cent of the minimum. The House bill sets the minimum for persons under 18 and students under 21 at $1.60 for nonagricultural jobs and $1.30 for farm jobs.

But students are not the only ones who may need special consideration. There are also the elderly seeking to supplement small pensions and particularly the unskilled and less educated teenager group whose wages can supplement family incomes even though they cannot hold jobs that would be considered important enough to demand full pay.

In resolving the differences between these two bills, the conferees would be making a contribution to these groups if they provided some exemptions for them.

Commercial Appeal

A THING

In previous Democratic and Republican conventions, after one person has been nominated by a majority of the delegates, the dissidents usually moved to make the selection unanimous.

That final unanimous vote maybe looked good on paper, but it never did mean a thing. Those who had been against the candidate would have continued to be against him if they had thought their preference had a ghost of a chance to win.

Last July after McGovern was nominated, there was no move to make the selection unanimous, and it was just as well.

In a convention conducted under new and more democratic rules, and representing more segments of the population than ever before who set records for expressing the will of the people instead of the will of the political bosses and professionals as formerly, the lack of action for a unanimous vote was refreshing and in keeping with the spirit of the convention.

CORRUPTING JUSTICE

Human kind struggled for untold thousands of years to rise from savagery and barbarism to a social structure which permitted Freedom and Truth and progress to grow. The Founders of this Republic were learned in the history of this struggle by the human race; they understood well the human being were never "automatically" civilized but rather, it requires love, care and a measure of disciplined training to turn the self-centered infant into the civil adult.

One of the key concepts of the founders of Republic USA was the concept of justice. Those who would destroy our Republic have labored diligently to corrupt the meaning of the term "justice" as a means of corrupting the concept. Good citizens should alert themselves, their neighbors and editors of newspapers to this corrupting of justice while we still have our Republic.

When agitators use the term justice these days, too often they do not inted intend justice at all, but rather a kind of mindless leniency which is the exact opposite of justice. Justice, in the former, true sense of the word, meant a merited punishment suitable in severity to the crime in question. It had nothing to do with leniency or with mercy. Mercy is granted to the guilty because of the offender's willingness to see his crime, atone for it and not repeat it.

Today, too many wish to turn murderers loose on society when said murderer shows no remorse and, indeed, promises to go and kill again as a matter of "justice." This is not justice at all, and civilization cannot co- exist with such men loose in society. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

How Meany Beat Glamor, Dustin Hoffman Et Al., In Critical Presidential Preview Primary Election

NEW YORK — Blithely this nation and many a political specialist have overlooked the preview of the Presidential campaign, the infighting of the old champs, the old politics against the new, the grizzlies of precinct politics against the glamor of McGovernism, George Meany directing his labor legions against Dustin Hoffman, Marlo Thomas and the new quixotics marshalled by one Allard Lowenstein, who claims he personally forced Lyndon Johnson to throw in his hand in '68.

It all happened over in Brooklyn's old 14th Congressional District, a melting pot of Catholics and orthodox Hasidic Jews, older generations of Italians and Irish, and hard-working blacks and Puerto Ricans. A mix which would have heartened the 19th century poetess Emma Lazarus who beseeched the world to send her and America its poor.

For 28 years it has been represented in the House of Representatives by Democrat John J. Rooney -- friend of the people, friend of the FBI, mentor of the Justice Dept., critic and conscience of State Dept. funds, monitor of the Judiciary and the Commerce Dept. For he is chairman of the subcommittee on appropriations for these departments and divisions.

To challenge him came former Congressman Allard Lowenstein, scion of the Americans for Democratic Action, disciple of Harvard Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith, youngish hope of McGovern's legions -- and so close to the Democratic candidate that he could tell me on the second day of the Democratic National Convention in Miami last July that the Vice Presidential candidate would be an "unknown": Sen. Tom Eagleton. He wasn't guessing. I vouch for that.

Lowenstein, who discovered anti- war- ism long before it came to Sen. McGovern, is the antithesis of everything AFL-CIO president George Meany stands for. Meany looked up sharply when the courts threw out Rooney's first Democratic primary victory last June 20. And then when the courts ordered a second primary race for Tuesday, Sept. 19, the old Bronx flash moved as only those who have power and understand it can.

Meany telephoned John Rooney, now 68 and ailing. The 15- term seniority and the valuable chairmanship would not be lost, Meany said in effect. Then the AFL-CIO chief pushed all the buttons. He called the Seafarers' chief Paul Hall, one of labor's most skilled political actionists whose national union headquarters is near the Brooklyn waterfront. Then the call went to Longshoremen's president Ted Gleason, who even then was preparing to endorse Richard Nixon, and to Longshoremen's national vice president Tony Scotto, also there on the docks; to Ray Corbett, president of the New York State AFL-CIO Federation; and to the silver-haried loner, Harry Van Arsdale, Electrical Brotherhood National Treasurer, and chief of this city's 1.1- million- member Central Labor Council.

They moved into action -- with money, manpower and the political muscle which is in sound trucks, caravans and "personal" computerized letters. Scotto's counsel Tony Mennelli, executive director of the Maritime Port Council, moved in as John Rooney's campaign director. He worked with the Democratic county chairman Meade Esposito and the district leader Jim Mangano, in a sense the Eastern Richard Daley.

While Lowenstein was aided by the Hollywood and TV set, and by chicken fries, marimba bands and such out- of- staters as California's Republican Congressman Paul McCloskey, the labor people, coordinated by the youngish Mennelli, steadily directed by the youngish Scotto, hit the streets in shifts. Gleason held off endorsing President Nixon for reelection so it wouldn't confuse his charge into internal Democratic politics.

They worked in shifts. The International Longshoremen's Assn. sent in two shifts of some 300 to 400 men. The Seafarers landed some 300 sailors. Ray McKay, leader of District 2, Marine Engineers, put in 100. Van Arsdale, always working alone, crisscrossed the district with his electrical workers.

They were united. They rang doorbells as of old. They called for the voters and escorted them to the polls. They stood on street corners and vied at shopping centers with Dustin Hoffman. They watched the balloting.

And they won. They rolled up a winning margin of some 1,500 more votes for Rooney than he had polled in the first Democratic primary.

In the black and Puerto Rican areas, Lowenstein's new politics lost anywhere from 20 to 45 per cent of his June votes. The old politics had driven off the invaders, the challengers.

Why had the labor legions turned out? It was not just for an old friend. Rooney is a power in Congress, the kind labor is fighting for in this national election. For example, when the Pentagon wanted to shut down the famed old Brooklyn Army base so well known to hundreds of thousands of embarking soldiers, Rooney cut off the appropriations needed by the Army to shift some 300 workers to similar facilities in the consolidated Bayonne, N.J., district across the bay. Thus he saved these jobs for the American Federation of Government Employees -- and some 300 longshore jobs.

When the Brooklyn Navy Yard was shut, Rooney got the first appropriation to keep it going. Now a tanker is being built there and more to come. Rooney got the subsidy needed for this construction -- and with the reopening warehouses saved 2,500 jobs.

He is a powerful chairman. And the labor leaders marshalled by Meany, directed by Mennelli, Scotto and Hall, delivered. You can't eat glamor. Not even Dustin Hoffman's of Lowenstein's new politics.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON —Former Attorney General John Mitchell's name has been linked to the Watergate espionage operation by a principal witness in the case.

The witness, Alfred Baldwin, has sworn he was a member of the Mission Impossible crew that spied on Democratic Party headquarters. One of his espionage reports, he has alleged, was addressed personally to Mitchell.

By Baldwin's account, he gave an oral report to James McCord, Jr. who was then the security coordinator of President Nixon's campaign committee. In Baldwin's presence, McCord allegedly put the report in writing and addressed it to Mitchell.

Subsequently, McCord was arrested at gunpoint with four other men inside Democratic headquarters. They were wearing surgical gloves and carrying eavesdropping equipment.

Baldwin has confessed that he monitored conversations picked up by a bug planted in one of the Democratic Party telephones. The bugged conversations were reported in memos, which McCord sent both to the White House and the campaign committee, Baldwin claims.

The memo that went to Mitchell, however, didn't deal with the bugging operation. As Baldwin tells it, he was asked to check on security in the building where the President's campaign committee has its headquarters.

He cozied up to a secretary in the law firm of Reeves and Harrison, which has offices in the same building. She told him that one of the law partners had contributed to George McGovern's campaign.

--SECURITY RISK--

When Baldwin reported this to McCord, the security chief allegedly dashed off a memo to Mitchell warning that the law firm was a political security risk.

Baldwin gave the FBI a 100 -page statement detailing his role in the Watergate caper. Thereafter, he reportedly was granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for his testimony before a federal grand jury.

A former FBI agent, Baldwin said he had been assigned at first as a security guard for Martha Mitchell. His instructions were not to let her out of his sight except when she went to bed. He was also handed a roll of money and was instructed to buy her anything she wanted and to pay cash, he said.

When he jointed the Watergate espionage operation, Baldwin said, McCord shoved a .38 pistol at him. Baldwin protested that he didn't have a pistol permit. McCord allegedly told him that he didn't need one, because he was attached to the President's campaign committee.

On May 9, Baldwin said he caught an Allegheny flight to visit his home in Connecticut. As he boarded, the electronic anti -hijacking equipment detected the pistol. He couldn't produce a permit, so he was detained while the airline checked with the President's campaign committee.

Apparently, pistols, burglar tools, bugging devices, surgical gloves and cameras suitable for photographing documents were all part of the standard equipment available at the President's campaign headquarters across the street from the White House.

-- BANK RECORDS --

Justice Department lawyers, apparently, have lied to the courts about the practice of snooping into people's private bank accounts without court authorization.

On several occasions, we have published excerpts from FBI files which prove bankers willingly turn over their customers' records without being served with a subpoena.

A month ago, however, government lawyers in San Francisco and Washington, D.C., told the federal courts the government always gets a summons or subpoena first.

Not only does this fly directly in the face of our documentary evidence, but it also contradicts the testimony of a highly placed Justice Department official.

The official, organized crime chief William Lynch, admitted to a Senate subcommittee last month that "in certain types of investigations" government sleuths get bank records without a subpoena "with some degree of frequency."

Under intense questioning by Sen. John Tunney, D —Calif., who is leading a move to write laws protecting the privacy of bank records, Lynch also confessed that "in particular situations they (banks) have been reasonably cooperative."

In other words, what the U.S. attorneys said in court flatly contradicts the Justice Department's testimony before the Senate. Someone, obviously is lying.

Footnote: In his Senate testimony, Lynch said the FBI went after bank records only when investigating "violations of criminal statute." We have documented cases in which the FBI got the bank records of dissidents like Jane Fonda, Dr. Benjamin Spock, and black civil rights leader Floyd McKissick. So Senator Tunney was prompted to ask Lynch whether "criminal statute" violations included "political surveillance cases." Replied Lynch: "I do not know what you mean by that."

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The most difficult goal for any person to achieve is to become a real human being. One is fortunate if he succeeds after the effort of a long lifetime.

The only time you can depend on most people to be totally honest with themselves is when they doubt themselves.

The rich are not so hard to understand once you realize that their morals are never quite as bad as their manners.

His willingness to lend you money in an emergency isn't the best test of a friend. A friend is a guy who, when he has a royal flush and you have four of a kind in a poker game, refrains from baiting you into betting your way into bankruptcy. He leaves you dazed and with your wallet bruised and bloody, but alive and with enough spare change to take a cab home. That's friendship.

The best picture of the year is "Deliverance," which is brutal, ecological and memorable. One of the opening scenes, featuring a banjo and guitar duet between a blind mountain boy and a grownup city feller, is a gentle screen classic. It is so touching it makes you want to cry with gladness for its warmth.

I've tossed coins in scores of charitable wishing wells in traveling across America, but can't recall a single wish ever coming true. I can't decide whether I need to start tossing in larger coins or making smaller wishes.

Women love to get something for nothing, even though it is something they usually would have no use for. The other day I saw three elderly, welldressed ladies at the seashore clacking like happy chickens over three 10-pound bluefish that a passing sport fisherman had presented them. I'd wager that if the husband of any of these ladies had come home with a stiffened 10-pound fish, he would promptly have had it wrapped around his ears.

Which reminds me: Will the lady who has been sending me on the first of the month for the last three months a package containing a single red, red rose and a well-done breaded veal cutlet, please desist. I love the roses, but I can't stand breaded veal cutlets, and that goes for my cat, too.

Jet Smashes Ice Cream Parlor

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — "It took one wall where the 17 kids were and just pushed it," one witness gasped after a burning plane slashed into an ice cream parlor jammed with children and their parents, killing 22 persons.

Authorities said one entire family of four died in the crash Sunday along with at least 10 children. Twenty-six others — mostly children — were injured when the private plane catapulted across a highway shortly after takeoff and hit Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor.

The pilot of the Korean warvintage jet fighter survived and was quoted as saying, "I'm sorry! I'm sorry!" as he was pulled from the wreckage.

Describing the scene at the wall where the 17 youngsters had been sitting, Dave Thorton said, "They were all in a big pile. It just pushed them." He ran ran to the crash area from a nearby bowling alley.

A 12-year-old girl in the shop crowded with about 100 persons said she thought it was "a gimmick" to accompany the serving of a special ice cream sundae. "Then everyone started screamong and running."

Don McClusky, a management trainee working at the store, said a birthday party group of 17 persons was seated at the table at the front window and had just been served with ice cream, candy and favors when the plane crashed through the wall beside them. Most of the dead were found in that part of the store.

The crash occurred as the F86 Sabrejet was taking off from Sacramento's Executive Airport after participating in an air show. The plane had been converted to civilian use.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to lose power in the takeoff. It crashed on an old levee barrier at the end of the runway and hurtled across a four-lane highway.

The craft burst into flames about the time it hit three autos parked by the front entrance to the ice cream parlor. Two of the autos were rammed with the burning plane through the front of the building.

Twenty of the dead were tentatively identified as customers in the store. Two others had been seated in one of the autos crushed by the jet.

He said he had few calls from parents, possibly because some of the parents were among the hospitalized.

A witness said a man with a pair of wire cutters ran to the blue and gold jet — risking the flames — and cut the pilot loose.

The witness told newsmen the pilot was crying and saying over and over again, "I'm sorry! I'm sorry!"

Heat from the crash charred paint on parked automobiles 60 feet away. The impact knocked over mannequins in windows at the other end of the block.

Witnesses gave contradictory accounts of when the fire started, but several said that the wings — which contain the fuel tanks — were severed from the rest of the craft as it roared toward the ice cream parlor.

All of the other stores in the plush shopping center were closed or had just one or two persons each inside.

"There was an explosion with a ball of flames. It was just huge. It was bright orange and yellow with black smoke around it," said Barbara Fine, who was in a fabric store behind the ice cream parlor.

"People weren't crying and screaming. It wasn't hysteria— people were in shock," she said. "Some people were bleeding, and one child I was comforting was burned very badly on her feet and legs."

The operation continued for hours. The covered bodies — many of them small figures — were put in ambulances and quickly moved from the scene. Burned toys, chairs and other objects were piled on two sides of the building.

Parts of the aircraft were separated from the wreckage by investigators and hauled away. A heavy duty tow truck finally pulled the yellow and blue body of the plane from the store, wrenching a big chunk of the wall out with it.

Farrell's was a favorite spot for neighborhood children. A visit there was a special treat. Again and again, comments were heard in the crowd when each family last was in the store: "Just a couple days ago." "Just last week. We sat in that very chair."

Gas Explosion Hits Chattanooga Tanks

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Leaking gasoline touched off an explosion that engulfed four million-gallon storage tanks early today, shooting flames 400 feet into the air. Seven persons were injured, four seriously.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported that air traffic was being directed away from the area because of the danger of more explosions.

The fire scene was in northeast Chattanooga near the Chattanooga Airport.

The tanks were owned by Southern Facilities Inc., which supplies independent gasoline stations in the area. Across the road was another major tank storage yard, with facilities owned by Humble, Shell, Cities Service and American Oil Co. Fire officiais said there appeared slight danger of the fire spreading to those tanks.

The leak was discovered at 6 a.m. By that time, police said, several thousand gallons of gasoline had leaked out.

Claims No Aggressiveness Toward Federal Funds For Mo.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Missouri too often has lacked the resourcefulness and aggressiveness to take advantage of all federal funds available, Democratic gubernatorial candidate Edward L. Dowd said Sunday.

The funds, Dowd said, are those which would be available for governmental programs such as planning, better housing, new law enforcement and occupational safety.

Dowd's remarks were those contained in a speech prepared for a biennial conference of Teamsters Union Local 688.

If he is elected, Dowd said, "Missouri is going to get every dollar that's available to it from the federal government."

A trust fund is what you have if the wife lets you take the grocery money along when you go out with the boys.

Werner-Howle

The new Mrs. Werner is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ephriam Jarit Keith of Sikeston and thylate Mr. and Mrs. James Polk Howle of Charleston.

Werner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Werner and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Werner, Sr., and Mrs. Theo Kassell and the late Mr. Kassell, all of Frohna.

Mrs. Melvin Dean Johnson of Scott City, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and carried white daisies. Miss Sue Jackson of Cape Girardeau, fraternity sister; Miss Judy Werner of Frohna, sister of the groom; and Miss Carolyn Jean McCord of Sikeston were bridesmaids. Their dresses were of organza embroidered with pastel daisies and they carried nosegay bouquets of daisies to match.

Werner's attendants were his brother, Terry Werner of Frohna as best man. Groomsmen were Dan Compas and Ken Fehlig, both of St. Louis, fraternity brothers, and Greg Kassell of Monrovia, Calif., his cousin.

Ushers were Melvin D. Johnson of Scott City, brother-in-law of the bride, and Ron Kassell of Austin, Tex., cousin of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown designed and fashioned by her mother. It was of eggshell, satinback shantung with high-waisted bodice of Irish loomed lace in the same shade, finished with wide satin streamer caught in a bow at the center. She wore a Juliet hat of the same lace with hip length tulle. Her bouquet was of white daisies and yellow rose buds. She carried her great- grandfather Keith's Bible and a lace hankerchief which had been carried by her mother at her wedding.

Organist Mrs. J. E. Childess played selections chosen by the bride and just after the parents were seated, she accompanied Rick Hirst of St. Ann, who sang, "If Ever I Would Leave You." While the couple knelt to receive the benediction, Hirst sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte.

Mrs. Howle wore a street-length dress of double knit in coral with matching headpiece. The groom's mother, Mrs. Werner, wore a dark blue and white double knit with white accessories. Both mothers' corsages were white roses.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The hall and tables were decorated and catered by the United Methodist Women's organization of the Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Werner

Werner graduated from Perryville High School and Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau with a degree in industrial arts with a certificate of draftsman's art. His fraternity is Sigma Chi. He is employed by Combustion Engineering in St. Louis.

Mrs. Werner attended Sikeston High School and graduated from Southeast Missouri State College with a degree in music. She is an elementary music teacher at the Missouri School For The Blind in St. Louis. She is a member of the international fraternity Sigma Alpha Iota.

Out-of-town guests, besides the wedding group, were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Werner Sr. and Mrs. Theo Kassel, grandparents of the groom, Miss Donna Werner, sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Terry W. Werner, Mrs. Linna Roth, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Petzoldt, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Petzoldt and Natalie.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Best, Mrs. Erica Best, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Vogel, Miss Sharon Bremer, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lorenz, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Heider, Mrs. Anita Streiler, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rabold, Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Stelling, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Werner, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gruenwald and family, all from Frohna.

From Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Schmidt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Garry Lungwitz, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Werner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harlin Oberndorfer and family and Mr. Vernon Littge and family.

From St. Louis, Gordan Blanton, R. D. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kiehne, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fehlig and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Compas

Mrs. Bonnie K. Gocke of Pales Verdes Estates, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kassel, Miss Connie Kassel and Gregory Kassel, of Monrovia, Calif.

Ronald Kassel of Austin, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kassel and sons of Bloomfield, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Werner of Perryville, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Werner, Jr. and family of Edwardsville, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engert and family of Oak Ridge, Mrs. Rita Klaus, Robert Klaus and Theo Oberdorfer of Uniontown, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Avis of Caruthersville, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Johnson and Amy of Scott City, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robert of Illmo, Mrs. Bill Jackson of Bertrand.

The evening before the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Werner were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Two-Tony's Restaurant for the wedding group, out-of-town guests, the family and special friends. The tables were decorated with wide yellow ribbon and small pedestals of wedding decorations and candles.

Smith-Averett

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leon Smith

DEXTER —Soft candlelight illuminated the altar setting at Southwest Church of Christ at 7:30 as Miss Jane Ellen Averett and Robert Leon Smith exchanged marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Averett Jr., Route One, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith, also of Route One.

Recorded selections were played prior to the ceremony and the traditional wedding march and recessional were used, under the direction of Mrs. Ed Bridges.

Escorted to the altar and presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of white, silk organza. The bodice featured a traditional neckline, short sleeves and was lavishly adorned with Alencon lace. The skirt was also appliqued with the lace and flowed gracefully as a chapel train.

Her short bouffant veil was held securely by a contour headpiece of pearled Venise lace and she carried a nosegay of white carnations and white daisies interspersed with baby's breath.

Miss Susan Mayer was maid of honor.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Serving were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Bill Flowers and Mrs. George P. Dawson of Dexter, and Mrs. D.M. Sailors of Pacificia, Calif.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Dexter High School and is employed at Citizens Bank. The groom, a 1971 Dexter High School graduate, is an employee of Monaco Eggs.

District Officers Of Rebekah Lodge Installed

Installed for 1973 were Mrs. Myra Lumm of Charleston, president; Mrs. Jewell Boss of Cape Girardeau, vice president; Mrs. Jim Wallace of Scott City, warden; Mrs. Charles Skinner of Sikeston, secretary; and Mrs. Coy Welker of Cape Girardeau, treasurer.

Also, Addie Hale of Charleston, marshall; Myoma Smith of Charleston, conductor; Mrs. Cleo Robertson of Sikeston, chaplain; Bobbie Taylor of Sikeston, inside guardian; Ethel Lloyd of Charleston; outside guardian; Mrs. Scotty Taylor of Sikeston, color bearer; and Mrs. Richard Evans of Sikeston, reporter.

The Sikeston lodge opened the meeting and its officers presented special ceremonies. Mrs. Norma Yant of Sikeston presided.

Other lodges represented were Cape Girardeau, Scott City, Charleston, East Prairie, Morehouse, Hayti, Caruthersville and Steele.

Mrs. Carmen Wood of Columbia, vice president of the Missouri State Assembly, was a special guest and supervisory officer.

Ann Landers

Old Girlfriends Provide Laughs

Dear Ann Landers: I must comment on the letter from the reader who wrote to say she was incensed to discover that an acquaintance was using an ancestral crest very similar to theirs and she was sure the woman had "copied" it. Isn't it amazing what some people view as a problem? It must be wonderful to have so little to worry about!

One of the great things about the United States is that, with few exceptions, its people have rejected status by inheritance in favor of status by achievement. Each person must stand or fall on the strength of what he is able to make of himself.

Who cares about noble ancestors if nobility of character has not been passed along through parent -child relationships? And what does it matter if one's ancestors were bastards so long as the person himself has risen above bastardly conduct?

Some people with similar family crests deserve each other. The fact that the woman would complain suggests that she is leaning heavily on her dead relatives for status. --New Mexico.

Dear New: The mental picture of a person leaning on dead relatives is somewhat ludicrous, but it puts the whole thing in proper perspective. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I've got a little advice for that woman who wonders if she should insist that her husband destroy his box fulled with pictures of former girl friends. Don't do it, dear. Put the box away, out of sight, so you won't run into it every time you clean. Forget about the bloomin' thing and one day you'll be glad you did. Tom and I celebrated our 30th wedding anniversary last week and I decided the time had come to sit down and go through the box of pictures. Well, Ann, we laughed so hard tears rolled down our cheeks. The outfits, the hair-dos, the poses -- it was better than an old movie.

My husband and I started to reminisce. It was amazing how many of the girls who were once cute and popular are nowout-of-shape and no longer attractive. The hotshot of yesteryear selected as "Most likely to succeed" was lost in the shuffle and never heard from again. Tell your readers that throwing out pictures can be a big mistake. Advise them to put away those mementos and one day they'll be glad they did. --- Still Laughing

Dear Still: I wish I'd thought of this angle. Thanks for improving on my advice.

Dear Ann Landers: The pastor of our church had been visiting a widow who lives near me, almost daily since her husband died. At first we thought it was very considerate of him to take such a personal interest in her, but it's been three years now and she's had plenty of time to learn how to handle her grief alone.

There is a lot of whispering in our town about this twosome and I don't think it is doing our church any good. Should we speak to the woman, to the misister, or to the misister's wife? We want to proceed in a way that will be best for everybody. We feel certain that if the minister or his wife were aware of the gossip he would behave differently. Please advise. --- Observers

Dear Observers: If the minister had been visiting a woman every day for three years his wife probably knows about it and is handling it in the way that is best for her. My advice is to mind your own business

Club Builds New Popcorn Trailer

Rotarian Bill Swann, 309 Kramer Drive, headed a group of Rotary Club members who recently built a new trailer to assist Rotary members in selling popcorn for the Cotton Carnival this year.

The trailer was moved into place Sunday and made ready for the annual event. The trailer has a popcorn machine in each end. The club purchased a new machine to replace one of the older machines.

Judge Hears Seven Cases

EAST PRAIRIE —Six persons appeared before Police Judge J. Marvin Bryan this morning.

Fines of $20 were assessed Kenny Williford and Earnest Easley for public intoxication. Lucille Warren was fined $25 and Jerry Warren was fined $20 for peace disturbance and using profane language.

Tells Americans Others Will Be Freed Only After Settlement Of Viet War

HANOI (AP) — North Vietnamese Prime Minister Pham Van Dong reasserted Sunday to a delegation of Americans in Hanoi to escort home three released fliers that remaining pilots in capitivy will be freed only when an agreement is reached to settle the war.

In a 90-minute informal discussion attended by this reporter, Dong told antiwar activists Cora Weiss, David Dellinger, Rev. William Sloane Coffin and Prof. Richard Falk that a framework for negotiating a settlement to the war has long been available.

That was the seven-point proposal put forward by the Provisional Revolutionary Government, the Viet Cong, that calls for the total withdrawal of American forces and the formation of a coalition government.

Dong said he wanted to stress the importance of the Sept. 11 clarification statement put forward in Paris by the Viet Cong delegation head, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, on a three-party coalition government for South Vietnam.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam would be excluded under this formula, but Saigon would be allowed to name anyone else to one-third of the government, the Viet Cong another third. The final third would be comprised of Catholics, Buddhists, exiled South Vietnamese in Paris and others.

The greying, wiry North Vietnamese leader told the delegation that the pilots should be released and that it would be a good act.

He asserted that President Nixon was aware of the necessity for a settlement first before their freedom and that there was no misunderstanding.

The premier said he felt that despite this Nixon was following a policy that delivered pilots into North Vietnamese hands and the number was increasing.

Dong insisted that N rth Vietnam wants to release all captured pilots and that moment would come when there was positive response to the proposals already tabled for a settlement.

Mrs. Weiss, cochairman of the committee of liason with the families of the servicemen detained in North Vietnam, told this reporter Sunday that the prospect of a meeting with the premier was one reason for the delay in leaving Hanoi for the United States with the three released pilots.

Another reason for the delay, she said, was that the delegation had a responsibility to make contact with other pilots still detained.

Dong declined comment on the mettings between U.S. presidential aide Henry Kissinger and Le Duc Tho, adviser to the Hanoi peace delegation in Paris, on the grounds of promised secrecy.

In a long discussion on the war, Dong referred to Americans who thought they could have defeated North Vietnam with armaments and politics and who had imagined for years that the Hanoi government would not survive. Those people are still waiting for the end just as they waited in 19641968, he said.

The premier admitted that much of his country was devastated and that his his people had made many sacrifices, but he said their minds were lucid and hearts proud, they knew the reasons to fight and that to win the war meant winning peace, independence and freedom.

A delegation member brought up offers by some Americans peace activists to serve as hostages against U.S. bombing and to interpose their bodies between bombs and the Vietnamese people.

Dong said it was difficult to comment because the gesture of those people was obviously from their hearts. His people could only show respect and admiration but as a people who were realistic they had to give serious thought to those proposals.

His own personal view was that the battlefield for those in America who opposed war was in America and that the battlefield for his people was in Vietnam.

Scientists Say Drug Not Yet Cancer Cure

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Scientists at Oak Ridge National Laboratory caution that a potential breakthrough in the treatment of cancer cannot yet be regarded as the discovery of a complete cure.

The warning was issued during the weekend as a barrage of telephone calls came to the laboratory after it announced that the bacterial agent BCG had been found "100 per cent effective" in treating cancer in animals.

David Sundbert, public information director at the laboratory, said many of the calls were from people whose relatives have cancer.

Dr. Michael Hanna Jr., an ORNL scientist who announced the findings Friday, said BCG cannot be regarded as a definitive cure for cancer.

There are a larger number of cancer types in humans, he said, and "we can't be certain this will work against all of them."

Dr. Herbert Rapp of the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., said BCG has been used thus far only on humans with skin cancer.

"We will have to gain the confidence of the clinical world, and it may take as long as five years," he said.

Hanna said the BSG treatment works by stimulating the body's natural reactions against tumors so that cancer cells are destroyed.

"The important thing is that we've opened the door to treatment by immune therapy. I think it would work on cancers like lung cancer if they are situated so that the chemical can be injected into them." he said

November Ballot Has Two Constitutional Amendments

Missourians will vote at the general election in November on two amendments to the Missouri Constitution, according to an official notice from Secretary of State Jim Kirkpatrick. They will be published next week and the following week.

Amendment No. 1 would authorize the General Assembly to exempt from taxation: household goods and articles of personal use, part of the valuation of real property owned as a homestead by persons over 65 years of age; intangible property owned by individuals, labor, agricultural and horticultural organizations, not- for- profit corporations, and hospitals exempt from the state income tax. It would also provide for the restitution to the respective political subdivisions of revenue lost by reason of such exemption, and provide financial relief to persons over 65 who occupy rental property as their homes.

Amendment No. 2 would authorize the General Assembly to consider bills returned by the Governor five days or less before last day bills can be considered in odd-numbered years by placing the bill at the top of the calendar for consideration at the next regular session, and if bills are so returned, in even- numbered years by reconvening for a period not to exceed ten days.

State's Masons To Convene

Committee reports, progresss on the new Masonic Home of Missouri in St. Louis County, a review of activities over the last 12- months, adoption of a budget and election of officers will occupy the delegates until the conclusion of business Tuesday afternoon.

Past Grand Master Joseph Batchelor, professor of economics at the University of Indiana, artist Jack Abshier of the Kansas City Star, and Jack Buck, sports broadcaster for the St. Louis Cardinals, will be among the featured speakers at the two-day session.

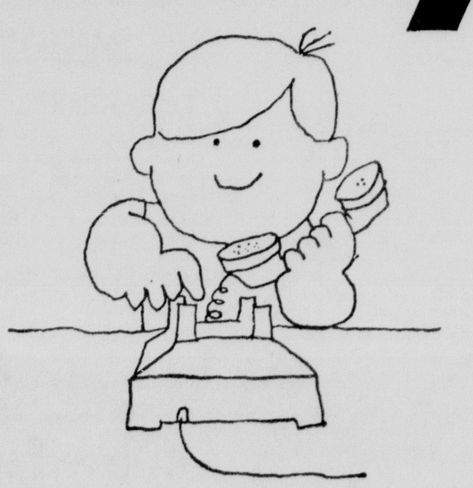

ST. LOUIS (AP) — More than 1,200 delegates are expected in St. Louis Monday for the opening of the 151st annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Missouri.

Davis will be honored in two programs Sunday beginning with a DeMolay initiatory class named in his honor and concluding with a banquet Sunday night.

Canada has an estimated 15 per cent of the world's surface fresh water.

It's never too early.

If you have a child in the early elementary grades or almost there, teach him how to use the telephone.

First, show him how to dial "0" for Operator in an emergency. Learning this one number could save his life someday.

Second, help him memorize his home telephone number. If he's lost it's better than a compass.

Then, when he is ready, show him how to look up numbers in the phone book.

Emphasize that the phone is no plaything. A phone is more than just a phone if you know how to use it. It can be a lifeline.

Recommend Property Tax Stay

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Property tax should continue to be one means of financing public elementary and secondary education, a study group of 107 Missourians recommends.

And the state's 605 school districts should be consolidated into less than half that total, the study says.

The Kansas City Star, which said it obtained copies of the study after the Missouri Education Department refused to disclose it, said Sunday those were the main points of the report.

The department arranged for the study by four committees on sources of revenue, distribution of funds, school district structure and educational programs.

Dr. Loran G. Townsend and Delmar Coble, study co-directors, said the recommendations were only tentative. They said the reports will be presented in a series of regional conferences beginning Oct. 4.

Malden CB Projects Inspected

MALDEN — An inspection team representing the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development of Jefferson City, visited Malden Tuesday for an onsite inspection of the city's yearly Community Betterment projects.

Malden recently entered the statewide Community Betterment Awards Competition with entries highlighting the activities of its youth and the new recreation park.

The team, composed of Bob Hendrix, executive director, Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce; Larry B. Maecham, KODE-TV of Joplin; and Lila D. Bush of Missouri Municipal League, Jefferson City, complimented Malden's entry by stating that it was one of the better entries of the entire program.

The inspection team also had praise for the Student Council and the Beta Club of Malden High School and the senior citizens of Malden.

Industrial Development Post Filled

MALDEN — Pat Lea of Sikeston, chairman of Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, announced the appointment of Pat Lewis to head the Bootheel Industrial Development Program at Thursday night's joint meeting with Bootheel Economic Development Council.

Lewis, 36, of Greenwood, Miss., is well acquainted with this type of work. He and his family will move to Malden, and he will begin his assignment on Oct. 2.

Lea also appointed a 24-man steering committee to guide the development program.

BRPC was given permission for a pilot housing program, a research and demonstration project to develop low cost housing for rural areas.

Also discussed was the development of a solid waste program to be completed next month. The commission should know soon if government assistance will be available to implement recommendations in the plan.

Voter Sign-up Ends Oct. 10 In Miss. Co.

CHARLESTON — Registration deadline for Mississippi County residents who wish to vote in the Nov. 7 general election is 4:30 p.m. Oct. 10.

Prospective voters may register at the county clerk's office in the courthouse in Charleston or Douglas Insurance Agency, 120 East Washington Drive in East Prairie.

According to Arthur Lee Goodin, county clerk, anyone living in the county who is 18 years old or older may register.

STATE POLITICAL PLASTFORMS IN REVIEW

Now that the Democratic and Republican state committee have submitted their party platforms to the voters of Missouri, it might be good to review, in depth, some of the areas of the platforms to compare and contrast the parties.

To begin with the two parties argued, in principle, with the problems of closed meetings. The Republicans suggested an "open meetings law" while the Democrats suggested proposals are similar to the so-called "sunshine" amendment which failed to reach the November ballot for lack of sufficient signatures.

They also agreed basically in the area of drug problem in Missouri. Both urged that the pushers of hard drugs be subject to severe penalties while the users be provided with rehabilitation. Youth also should be educated in the dangers of drug abuse, the platforms suggested.

In the area of political reform, the Democrats urged legislation to "further limit campaign spending" to control the high cost of seeking public office although they did not specify how it might be limited. The Republicans suggestions for campaign spending included "spending limits without the present loopholes be established; candidates be required to list contributions and expenditures" before and after the election and "candidates be required to list all contributions, not just 90 days before the election."

For the consumer, both platforms urged modification of the "holder in due course" doctrine to increase the consumer's protection. Both parties also urged some method whereby persons with small claims could receive them without excessive cost. The Democrats urged legislation to protect consumers from "high pressure sales tactics;" the Republicans want to provide a three day "cooling-off period for goods sold by door-to-door salesman."

The Democrats called for a presidential primary in Missouri for the selection of delegates to the national party conventions. The Republicans did not call for this, but did urge blanket ballot for primary voters be established in Missouri which would allow a person to vote for the candidate of his choice without giving his party affillation. In addition, the Republicans suggested a change in the primary date to the first Tuesday following the first Monday in September.

Since this is the year of the 18-year-old vote, both parties included the youth in their platforms. The Democrats urged the question of extending full citizenship rights be subject to the will of the people; the Republicans urged reform of "our statutes" to give 18-year-olds citizenship rights. Both parties urged favoring "the appointment of students or other individuals who are intimately acquainted with the needs of students" to the state univesities' governing boards.

Women were not be to forgotten either. Both urged ratification of the equal rights amendent. The Democrats urged equality for women on credit, mortages, insurance, property, rental and finance contracts, while the Republicans urged elimination of special exemptions for women regarding jury service. The Republicans urged state support for day care centers for needy mothers, while the Democrats suggested competent women be appointed to high-level responsibility positions.

For the elderly, both platforms favored providing tax relief for older people. The Democratic party gave "total support" to proposition No. 1 which will appear on the November ballot. It calls for an amendment to the constitution which would enact tax relief "through exemption for senior citizens on both real and personal property" through either the homestead exemption or circuit breaker plan. Both platforms also urge enforcement of nursing home licensing laws.

Finally, both parties urge equality for all citizens in Missouri. The Democrats suggest several specific ways this can be done, including a recommendation that "the Missouri Fair Employment Practice Act be amended to include all employers" in the state and that state agencies "authorized to license business or occupations be empowered to suspend or revoke a license when the license holder has violated the Fair Employment Practice Act or the Public Accomodations Acts."

These are only a few areas that both platforms deal with. For further information on these or other areas, contact the Democratic or Republican state headquarters in Jefferson City.

Bond Challenged To Reveal Wealth

ST. LOUIS — Edward L. Dowd, Democratic candidate for governor, has announced his present financial net worth and income from all sources for the past 10 years.

At the time of the announcement, Dowd said, "I challenge my Republican opponent to do the same thing with regard to his present financial net worth and with regard to his income from all sources for the 10-year residency period necessary to be governor of Missouri. I believe he owes this information to the people of the state of Missouri."

Dowd listed his and his wife's holdings as follows: checking and savings accounts, $9,200; 179 shares of stock of the James B. Eads, Corp. of a value of $17,900, residence on Fauquier Drive, St. Louis, and household goods, $40,000; farm in Franklin County, 110 acres, house, barn, livestock, tractor and miscellaneous farm equipment, $28,000; law office furniture and library, $3,000; cash surrender value of life insurance policies, $27,000; 1971 Pontiac automobile, $2,500; 1965 Mercury automobile, $500.

Dowd stated that he owes $20,000 to a St. Louis bank araising out of the primary campaign. Mr. and Mrs. Dowd's total financial net worth amounts to $108,000.

Dowd's primary source of income was his law practice which brought him $42,199 in 1971, $15,958 in 1970, $31,882 in 1969, $35,154 in 1968, $31,405 in 1967, $27,390 in 1966, $36.090 in 1965, $29,754 in 1964, $19,056 in 1963 and $18,092 in 1962.

"Taxes on these amounts were paid to the state of Missouri and the federal government each year," Dowd said.

Dowd had no income from trust funds and none from investments. Dowd challenged his Republican opponent to reveal his income and its sources for the past 10 years.

"Mr. Bond's revelations up to this point," Dowd said, "have been totally unsatisfactory. It is not enough to say that he owns shares of stock in certain corporations and tax free municipal bonds unless he says how many bonds, how many shares, and what they are worth. It is not enough to say, as Mr. Bond did beforethe Missouri Supreme court, that he had more than $2,400 in unearned Missouri trust fund income in various years. Let him say how much and from where his money comes.

"The people of this state are entitled to know the details of Mr. Bond's financial net worth, total income and its sources. It is important to know the extent of his interests so that the people can evaluate the areas of conflict between his private holdings and the interests of the state of Missouri," Dowd added.

Polls Still Put Nixon Nixon Way Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — A new poll conducted jointly for Time magazine and The New York Times shows President Nixon leading Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern by 39 points — 62 to 23 per cent.

Moreover, the President has overtaken McGovern even among registered Democrats, 43 to 40 per cent, according to the survey released Sunday. It was conducted by Daniel Yankelovich, Inc., between Aug. 25 and Sept. 12.

The 39-point over-all margin represents an 11 percentage point increase over a parallel Yankelovich survey taken a month earlier which showed Nixon ahead by 28 points — 56 to 28 per cent.

Meanwhile, McGovern aides disclosed the results of a private national poll showing the Democratic contender had whittled the Nixon lead from 34 points to 22 points in the past few weeks.

McGovern campaign director Frank Mankiewicz said Sunday that the poll was based on telephone conversations with 1,500 persons nationwide, all of whom had been interviewed in depth earlier.

The Times said there was an indication in the Yankelovich survey that McGovern may have narrowed Nixon's lead during early September but the shift was so small that it could have been accounted for by sampling error.

In the Time-Times poll, 2,329 registered voters in the 16 largest states were interviewed by telephone. The states account for two-thirds of the total electoral vote.

Over-all, the poll showed Nixon ahead among virtually all age groups, social classes, income levels, nationalities and regions.

He led by 34 points among Roman Catholics, 51 points among Protestants, 38 points among independents, 43 points among middle-income voters, 47 points among Italian-Americans and 54 points in the South.

The most dramatic finding was the President's lead among Democrats. In the previous Yankelovich poll, McGovern led among all Democratic voters, 45 to 37 per cent.

Both the Yankelovich poll and another conducted by the Gallup organization for Newsweek magazine showed Nixon ahead nationally among young voters.

The Gallup poll gave Nixon a 52-43 per cent lead among 18-to24-year-old voters because of an "enormous" lead among Southern youth. But it said McGovern was leading among the young in the East and Midwest and neck and neck among young voters in the West.

Yankelovich found college youth favored McGovern by 53 to 40 per cent while noncollege youth preferred Nixon by 49 to 34 per cent. Because there are twice as many in the noncollege group, Nixon held an overall margin of 3 percentage points.

Girl Reads About Her Own Murder

CHICAGO (AP) — It was "like having a new daughter born," said the father of a runaway girl who contacted police after her parents mistakenly identified her as one of two teen-agers found slain in a park.

Rosemarie Pilewicz, 17, said she read a newspaper report of her death and thought, "How can the world say this? I'm breathing."

Her parents had reported her missing Aug. 10.

Her return left police with the bodies of two nameless girls, each shot once in the back of the head with a .32-caliber pistol and left lying face up in Washington Park on the city's South Side. They were found early Saturday by a jogger.

Six other women and an infant girl have been found dead in unsolved homicides in Chicago and its suburbs since June.

Asked how she mistakenly identified one of the dead girls as her daughter, Violet Pilewicz said, "The girl was just like a twin. Even the earrings were the same."

Richard Pilewicz, who had viewed the body after his wife had come out of the morgue weeping, told reporters, "I went in and my eyes were foggy and I was shaking and it looked exactly like her."

Asked why his daughter had run away, Pilewicz said, "I don't know ... Maybe my type of life is different from hers."

The Editor:

I am a member of the Statewide Church of Scientology Committee on Public Health and Safety. We have been looking into the activities of the American Medical Association and have found this group is a political monopoly responsible for the rising costs and declining quality of medical care in this State and in the Country.

To wit: At Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland, it was estimated that the actual number of Americans who are made sick yearly by the treatment of their doctors is 1,300,000. Of this number many thousands die, killed by improper medication administered by LICENSED doctors whose knowledge is so inadequate that 80 percent of the time they are not certain of what is wrong with their patients and blindly prescribe potent drugs. And who licensed these doctors? State examining boards, whose members are "chosen" by the AMA. The AMA requests and commands of every State government, the right to dictate who shall constitute the examining board.

Another astonishing fact surfaced recently: Organized medicine is still trying to "buy" congress. The American Medical Political Action Committee (AMPAC) admitted to contributing $700,000 to the legislature. This was the "Above board" amount. How much passed hands "under the board" has not yet been discovered by enforcers of the Corrupt Practices Act.

We feel that much more needs to be "discovered" about this very dangerous and powerful political monopoly.

Sincerely,
Diane Powers

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I have enjoyed poetry ever since I can remember, since my time in high school I have written poetry that has great meaning to me. I had felt that my poetry had no meaning to men or women outside of myself. This was proven to be false.

A person of educational background read some of my poetry recently. He said that he felt that it was really good and that I should try to sell some of it. He then let an author read it and the author wrote that she too enjoyed it. The author went on to say that I should try to get a poetry critic to read and judge it because she wasn't a critic of poetry. She advised me that the best way to get it into circulation is by trying to have it printed in my local newspaper, this is why I am writing you. Would you print this poem in your editorial column and return the copy of the poem to me.

Even if it isn't used, I ask that it be returned. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Herman A. Gardner

Blows Job And Horn

OPPORTUNITY, Mont. (AP) — The would-be thief who attempted to steal an automobile here last weekend apparently needs some instruction in the workings of electrical systems.

Authorities report he crossed the wrong wires while trying to start the vehicle, with the result that he "hot-wired" the horn instead of the starter.

Mary Moore Appointed To Housing Board

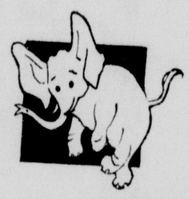

EAST PRAIRIE — Miss Mary Moore has been appointed by the City Council to the board of commissioners of East Prairie Housing Authority. Jack Emory was reappointed to the board. Each will serve a four-year term.

The other three members of the five- member board are James Barnhill, Joel Savell and L. B. Presson.

Davis Remains On MML Board

MALDEN — Mayor Sparrel Davis of Malden will continue on the board of directors of Missouri Municipal League for another year. Mayor Davis recently attended a three-day annual conference of the league held at Osage Beach.

1. In Memoriam

In Memory of
DONALD R. HUSK
Sept. 18, 1969
Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all

The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Advocate Policy To Avoid More Wheat Type Scandals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new plan for placing ultimate control of grain production in the hands of farmers instead of government is circulating among agricultural policy makers.

Advocates say it would eliminate wild price gyrations and chances for scandals like those resulting from last summer's huge wheat sales to the Soviet Union.

The idea, promoted by Hal Hellebust, executive secretary of the Kansas Cooperative Council, is designed to insure price stability in wheat, rice, feed grain and soybean markets.

If the proposal were in effect this year, Hellebust says, wheat farmers in the early-harvest areas of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas would not have sold grain for $1.32 or less per bushel in June and been forced to watch helplessly as the price rose to $2 by September.

Hellebust, interviewed last week, said copies of the council's proposed bill have been circulated among key Nixon administration farm officials and selected members of Congress. Sponsors are being asked to introduce the plan to the House and Senate early next year.

Basically, it would eliminate all acreage-control factors in the present crop program. Annual marketing quotas would be determined on the basis of foreign and domestic demand. Any excess production would be held by the farmer at his own expense for sale under future quota allocations.

The current farm program—the Agricultural Act of 1970—expires after next year's crops are harvested, and Congress is expected to tackle a replacement plan early in 1973.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and other Nixon farm leaders say the 1970 program has worked well, and indications are that the GOP—if returned to office—will seek basically more of the same for farmers after the current program ends next year.

But the Soviet grain sales, amounting to $1 billion this season, have drawn assertions that the Agriculture Department has ineptly represented interests of farmers or had engaged in a "conspiracy of silence" with the private grain traders. The charges are all denied by Butz and grainmen.

Hellebust, says many producers believe massive wheat sales to Moscow were initiated and selaed without any participation or knowledge by farm groups whatsoever.

"Can you imagine the U.S. selling Russia pickup trucks, for example, without letting manufacturers in on the deal from start to finish?" Hellebust said. "But that is what happened to farmers in the wheat deal."

The price of wheat paid farmers shot up in late July, the period when the size of the Soviet grain deal was becoming known. Many farmers had sold wheat in June for 75 cents less per bushel than they could have got by holding their grain until September.

Under strictly enforced marketing quotas offered by the coop plan, Hellebust said quotas limiting the amount of grain farmers could sell would be used to eliminate "abnormally excessive and abnormally deficient" supplies.

When it appears the supply of a particular grain will be too large, the secretary of agriculture would be required to set a marketing quota for at least one year—or a maximum of three—on how much farmers can sell. The sales allowance would be tailored to bring farmers a price equal to full parity, a formula used to equate production costs with gross returns. The quotas would be subject to approval by farmers in a referendum.

In the case of wheat, the parity price currently is about $3 per bushel, compared with the actual market level of around $2 in production areas.

The co-op plan also calls for a government support or floor price equal to two-thirds of parity. Wheat, currently, would be $2.

Hellebust conceded the plan would be aimed at balancing the marketable supply of grain with demand in order to raise cash prices. But, he said, there would be no need then to have the federal government make crop subsidy payments to farmers. Those for 1972 may total a record of more than $4 billion for all commodities.

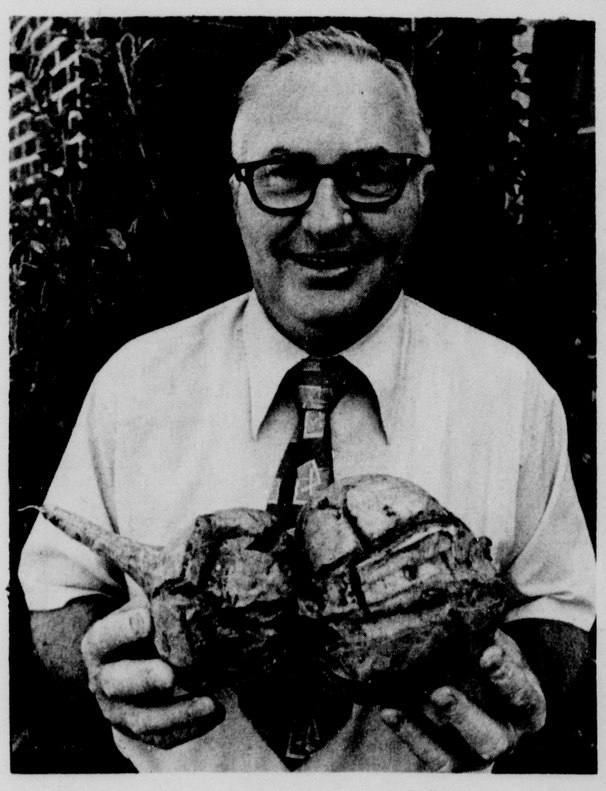

If foreign demand for grain— as in the case of the Russian wheat sales—suddenly emerged, the quota could be adjusted to meet the need. Further, Hellebust said, the mechanism would be aimed at getting the highest price possible for farmers.

Hellebust said cooperatives in Kansas have endorsed the quota-price plan and that efforts will soon be made to get support in other states.

There has been no official reaction from Butz on the proposal, he said.

The new co-op plan is a revised and greatly expanded version of one offered when Congress was writing the 1970 farm act but was limited only to wheat.

"We think our new plan has a much greater chance now," Hellebust said. "This interest over wheat, particularly, because of the Soviet sales is going to be a big help."

CECIL LEWALLEN, pastor of Evergreen Baptist Church at Marston, took up gardening about 15 years ago as a hobby. This year his hobby paid off with the five and one-half pound sweet potato he holds here.

Family Is Reunited By Suicide

CLINTON, Iowa (AP) — United in death by tragedy, the Utroska family comes home for burial today.

David Utroska, a 30-year-old father of three, died Tuesday night, an apparent suicide, authorities said.

His wife and children were killed Sunday when Utroska's plane crashed in Lake Michigan, shortly after takeoff from Chicago's Meigs Field.

A pistol and a note were found near Utroska's body in the family's new home near Davenport, Iowa. Police said he died of a single .22 caliber bullet through the heart.

"It was my fault ..." the note said. "... Sandra can't take care of the children alone ... I know they'll need me."

Utroska, his wife, Sandra, 30; and their children, Kimberly, 11, Kenneth, 10, and Kandice, 6, will be buried in their family plot at Clinton Memorial Park.

"David was a devoted young father, completely wrapped up in his family," said Mae Bentley, a niece.

Utroska, owner and manager of Midwest Aviation in Davenport, had flown planes for a dozen years, friends said.

Utroska said after the crash on Sunday that he tried the takeoff while severe thunderstorms gathered because he didn't want the children to be late for school the next dav.

A shift in the wind caught the plane, and it slammed into Lake Michigan 100 yards off shore. Utroska escaped with facial cuts.

In the ambulance that took him to Mercy Hospital, he kept saying — "I could see Sandra and the kids trapped in there."

Portageville Gets Extra School Funds

HOWARDVILLE — New Madrid County R-1 Superintendent of Schools George S. Reuter Jr. has announced that the Portageville School unit received an extra allocation during the summer for building and repair.

The work was done by Brown Construction Company, Inc. of Dexter at a total cost of $25,846.34, and was for the renovation of the junior high school building at Portageville.

Last year the district allowed a special allocation to remodel the library in the same building to bring it up to proper standards as specified by the State Department of Education. This expenditure amounted to $11,739.64.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures were sharply lower in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today, but corn, oats and soybeans were higher.

On the opening, wheat was 2 to 4¼ cents a bushel lower, December 2.18; corn was ⅛ lower to 1⅛ higher, December 1.43¼; oats were ¾ higher, December 86¼ cents and soybeans were ⅞ to 2½ cents higher, November 3.39.

Deaths

TOMMY WEAKS

NEW MADRID — Services for Tommy Weaks, 75, a retired farmer who died Saturday, were conducted at 2 p.m. today in Richards Funeral Home by the Rev. Edward E. Wolfe.

Burial followed in Evergreen Cemetery.

He was born Nov. 7, 1896 in New Madrid County to the late William Henry and Betty Sudberry Weaks. A bachelor, he had made his home with Mrs. Carrie Weaks, an aunt of rural New Madrid. He had been a patient in Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston since Sept. 8.

Survivors include five sisters, Alice Green, Hazel Sargent, Lotus Hawkins, Lillie Greenlee and Ruby Weaks, all of Indianapolis, Ind.; and two brothers, Lewis Weaks of Indianapolis and Pete Weaks of Lilbourn.

JIMMY L. CLAY

ESSEX — Jimmy Lewis Clay, 34, of Route Two died Sunday at 8:30 p.m. at his home after an extended illness.

He was born April 27, 1938 at Wilson, Ark. On July 3, 1954, he married Dorothy Bell, who survives.

Other survivors include three sons, Timmy, Mark and Perry of the home; his father, S. A. Clay of Essex; his grandmother, Mrs. Effie Clay of Sikeston; one brother, Bob Clay of Sikeston; and two sisters, Mrs. Leon Kesler of Crawford, Miss., and Mrs. Jean Benford of Essex.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Christian Memorial Funeral Home in Sikeston with Wesley Cowan, minister of Essex Church of Christ, officiating.

Burial will be in Garden of Devotion Cemetery in Morley.

LEWIS L. EDWARDS

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tumb Edwards, he was born Dec. 10, 1896 in Essex and lived there most of his life. He was a retired farmer and a veteran of World War I. On Oct. 11, 1925, he married the former Daisy Baker, who survives.

Other survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Pannsy Jones of Flint, Mich., Mrs. Ruth Tussing of Houston, and Mrs. June Hunsaker of Dudley; two sons, Robert Edwards of Essex and Charles Edwards of Bloomfield; one brother, Aaron Edwards of Catron; two sisters, Mrs. Perl Minger of Monticello, Ill., and Mrs. Virgie Mormach of Jonesboro, Ill.; and 23 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Watkins and Sons Funeral Home in Dexter with the Rev. Doyle Corlew of Essex officiating.

Burial will be in Taylor Cemetery in Essex.

CHARLIE SILLIMAN

HARVIELL — Charlie Silliman, 68, of Route One died Sunday at 1 p.m. in a Poplar Bluff hospital.

The son of the late Will and Laura Silliman, he was born March 4, 1904 in Blodgett. On May 30, 1936, he married the former Mary Brown, who survives.

Visitation began at 2 p.m. today at Watkins and Sons Funeral Home in Dexter.

Services will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the Watkins and Sons chapel with the Rev. Harold Mills of Malden officiating.

Burial will be in Essex Cemetery.

BLAIN RAINES

ORAN -- Blain Raines, 73, of Oran was pronounced dead on arrival at Chaffee General Hospital at 8:15 a.m. Sunday, following an apparent heart attack at his home.

He was born May 15, 1899 in Searcy County, Ark. On Aug. 8, 1926, he married the former Junia Barnes of Watts, Ark. She survives.

They moved to Oran from Canalou in 1957. Raines was a farmer for most of his life and, from 1962 to 1969, he managed the Wallace Dixie Feed Store in Oran.

He is survived by three sons, Glendle Raines of Sutter, Calif., Dwain Raines of Chaffee and Samuel E. Raines of Hannibal; three daughters, Mrs. J. R. Injured was Fanny Mathis, 65, of Wardell who was parked in her driveway. Mrs. Mathis received head injuries and was taken to Presnell Hospital in Kennett and transferred to a hospital in Memphis.

Bates Named New Bootheel VISTA Head

KENNETT — Michael D. Bates, a former Volunteers in Service to America volunteer, has been named the new Bootheel- VISTA supervisor, filling the vacancy left earlier this year by the resignation of Joe Marinick, who had held the post for the past year.

Bates, who holds a bachelor of science degree from Illinois State University, was formerly a volunteer in the Sikeston area, where he worked on a summer recreation and tutoring program for elementary children there.

Bates said VISTA presently has four volunteers serving the Bootheel, but added that additional volunteers are expected to be assigned to the area in October.

Namath Passes For 496 Yds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I know it sounds dumb," Joe Namath grinned, "but I've had better days throwing the ball."

If he has, the Baltimore Colts are probably quite happy they weren't around then, 'cause they were around Sunday when Namath demolished them to lead the New York Jets to a 44-34 National Football League victory.

"It wasn't my best bay," Namath deadpanned after rolling up an incredible 496 aerial yards and six touchdowns. "Sometimes I threw it short, sometimes I was long and sometimes where I wanted to be."

His first three touchdowns covered 65 yards to Eddie Bell, 67 to John Riggins and 28 to Don Maynard, followed by three to Rich Caster involving plays of 10, 79 and 80 yards respectively.

The six touchdowns fell one short of the NFL record and the yardage—achieved on just 15 completions in 28 attempts— was third best in the league's history for one game.

In Sunday's other games, Buffalo stunned San Francisco 27-20, New England stung Atlanta 21-20, Cleveland topped Philadelphia 27-17, Dallas defeated the New York Giants 23-14, Miami mauled Houston 34-13, Minnesota mangled Detroit 34-10, Cincinnati slipped past Pittsburgh 15-10, San Diego dumped Denver 37-14, Oakland beat Green Bay 20-14, Washington swatted St. Louis 24-10 and Chicago tied Los Angeles 13-13.

Johnny Unitas didn't exactly have a dismal day quarterbacking the Colts, despite being thrown for losses six times. He still managed to complete 26 passes, a Baltimore record, for 332 net yards, including touchdown strikes of 40 yards to Sam Havrilak and 22 to Tom Matte.

Don McCauley also scored two Colt touchdowns, one on a one-yard plunge, the other on a 93-yard kickoff return, and Jim O'Brien had field goals of 13 and 32 yards while Bobby Howfield had one of 14 yards for the Jets.

Running back Jim Braxton's second touchdown of the game with less than two minutes to go gave the Bills the points they needed to defeat the 49ers but it was O.J. Simpson and Don Croft who played the key roles.

Simpson rambled for 138 yards on 29 carries and Croft, a defensive tackle obtained last week from Baltimore, kayoed San Francisco quarterback John Brodie in the second quarter with a jarring tackle that resulted in a sprained left wrist.

Bill Bell of Atlanta was distraught after the Patriots' victory. "I just blew it," he said after missing a 10-yard field goal attempt with 28 seconds to play.

Trailing 20-7 in the fourth quarter, quarterback Jim Plunkett engineered two New England scoring drives, one ending with a touchdown pass to Randy Vataha, the other climaxed by Carl Garrett's 12-yard scoring run.

Mike Phipps, a third-year quarterback making only his second NFL start, threw for one touchdown and ran for another to lead the Browns past the Eagles. Don Cockroft booted two field goals and Bo Scott plunged over from one yard out for the Browns' other scores. Philadelphia's rookie quarterback, John Reaves, also threw for one touchdown and ran for another.

Tony Fritsch connected on three field goals, Walt Garrison plowed in from one yard out and Lance Alworth caught a two-yard touchdown iass from Craig Morton to lead the Cowboys past the Giants, who got Norm Snead-to-Rich Houston touchdown plays covering 55 and 94 yards.

"They're all No. 1 for me," Miami Coach Don Shula said after his three "first-string" running backs—Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Mercury Morris—ran roughshod over the Oilers for 274 yards. Kiick scored twice while Morris, Csonka and quarterback Bob Griese each scored once for the Dolphins.

"Detroit plays our type of physical game, therefore we're able to out-smash them," said halfback Dave Osborn, who scored three touchdowns in the Vikings' romp against the Lions. One of them came on a 13-yard pass from Fran Tarkenton, who also hit John Gilliam with a 40-yard scoring strike.

The Bengals couldn't manage a touchdown against the Steelers—but they didn't need them. Horst Muhlmann's five field goals covering 41, 32, 20, 32 and 34 yards provided the winning margin.

John Hadl tossed two touchdowns, Mike Garrett barrelled 41 yards for a third and cornerback Joe Beauchamp raced 47 yards with an interception for a fourth to lead the Chargers past the Broncos.

John Brockington slammed in twice from one yard out for Green Bay but Charlie Smith's one-yard plunge, Jack Tatum's record 104-yard touchdown run with a recovered fumble and George Blanda's two field goals gave the Raiders the edge over the Packers.

Tight end Jerry Smith caught his first two passes of the season—both for touchdowns—to lead the Redskins past the Cardinals.

Raiders Begin Cage Drills

POPLAR BLUFF — Three Rivers Community College Raiders' basketball team has begun drills in preparation for its season opening Nov. 11 at home against Southern Baptist of Walnut Ridge, Ark.

Coach Gene Bess welcomes nine freshman and six sophomores, four of which were members of last season's 23-8 club. Returning are Mark Baker, Wendall Copeland, Henry Hall and Ron Johnson.

Bolstering Raider hopes during a 22-regular game schedule and four tournaments will be Memphis State University transfer, Terry Walton, and Lennies McFerren, a member of the 1970-71 National Tournament team that placed fourth. Walton is the tallest athlete to suit up for TRCC.

Coach Bess and his assistant, Gary Holland, had one of their finest seasons of recruiting when they signed seven of Southeast Missouri's top athletes and landed two tall cagers from other areas. Among the seven SeMo stars signed was All-Stater Albri Cassell of Charleston.

"We have fine overall quickness and outstanding jumping ability," Bess emphesized. "But our success will depend greatly upon how well we put our defense together and play as a unit."

Rams Close In On Title

SCOTT CITY -- The Illmo- Scott City Rams established their strong defensive blockade early in the game and utilized an effective offense to maul the South Pemiscot Bulldogs, 27-0, in Bootheel Conference football action Friday night. The win put I-SC at a 2-0 mark in the conference and handed an even 1-1 slate to the Bulldogs.

By the half, the Rams had secured a 20-0 margin over the Dogs, recovering two fumbles in the first quarter and scoring on both for a 13- point lead. Capping their first period performance, I-SC returned to retrieve a blocked kick on the South Pemiscot 20- yard line and romped to the third score of the night.

The Rams were held scoreless in the third period, but recovered their earlier vigor in the fourth stanza to gain a seven- point finale.

I-SC travels to Chaffee next week to face the Red Devils, while South Pemiscot has an open date that night. The following Friday the Rams and Bulldogs are slated for a rematch, this time at Steele.

Scoring by quarters:

Illmo- Scott C	13	7	0	7	—27
S. Pemiscot	0	0	0	0	— 0

Wildlife Silent Service

BOONVILLE —Paul Wunderlich has no love for dope peddlers who run their narcotics by submarine, but it would sure help out his wildlife enforcement if it were true...

Wunderlich, conservation agent for Cooper County, recently had a report from a man who was fishing on the Lamine River when he saw --rather, when he said he saw -- a submarine running dope up the Lamine River.

"The man said he'd grabbed the periscope, beat it with his oar and even shot it with his rifle," Wunderlich reports. "The submarine must have been pretty tough for it paid him, as the man said, 'no never mind'.

"If nothing else," Wunderlich concludes, "a submarine would do an excellent job of clearing illegal nets out of the river."

Irish Open With Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whether Ara Parseghian likes it or not, his Notre Dame team seems a cinch to move up in this week's college football ratings following a 37-0 trampling of Northwestern Saturday in their 1972 debut.

"As usual, they're always somewhere between good and great," Northwestern's Alex Agase said of the Fighting Irish, who went into the contest with a No. 13 ranking in The Associated Press poll but unveiled a slick sophomore quarterback in Tom Clements and a fleet of hard-running backs— Darryll Dewan, Eric Penick, John Cieszkowski, Andy Huff— who shredded the Wildcats for 386 yards on the ground.

The No. 13 ranking agreed with Parseghian, although he'll gladly settle for a rise of approximately 12 positions when the final ratings are in.

"I'd rather have it that way than being ranked 1-2-3 because we're relaxed," he said. "When you're ranked high, the pressure is on you."

Perhaps so, but you couldn't tell it from the size of the weekend's scores. Top-ranked Southern California, despite a sluggish start, overwhelmed Illinois 55-20, runner-up Oklahoma buried Oregon 68-3 and third-rated Colorado trimmed Minnesota 38-6.

The crusher of all was ninthranked Nebraska's 77-7 destruction of Army while in the only match-up of ranking teams No. 12 Michigan turned back No. 6 UCLA 26-9.

Ohio State, rated fourth, had the weekend off and missed a chance to get in on such fun as fifth-ranked Tennessee's 45-6 trouncing of Wake Forest, seventh-ranked Alabama's 35-0 walloping of Kentucky, No. 8 Louisiana State's 42-17 drubbing of Texas A&M and 10th-rated Arizona State's 56-14 slaughter of Kansas State.

This was supposed to be a rebuilding year for Notre Dame in the wake of heavy graduation losses, but the Irish bolted to a 30-0 halftime lead and Parseghian cleared the bench early in the third period, even using some players who weren't listed on the pregame roster.

Anthony Davis ran for two touchdowns, Mike Rae passed for two and J.K. McKay, Coach John McKay's son, caught a pair as Southern California broke a tie 21 seconds before the half and went on to crush Illinois.

"I told my team at halftime our play was ridiculous," McKay said. "But we came back in the second half and played respectably." He cited his defense for "an uninspired performance."

Oklahoma's awesome running backs churned out 609 yards on 76 carries against Oregon, an amazing eight yards per carry, with Greg Pruitt leading the way with 103 yards, freshman Joe Washington scoring twice and sophomore Mike Thomas ripping off 90 yards on his first varsity carry.

Colorado got two touchdowns each from Charlie Davis and Ken Johnson in thumping Minnesota while Michigan's 381yard ground attack destroyed UCLA."I'm not raving about being a national power," said Michigan's Bo Schembechler, "but I still think we have a good team. We felt we could move the ball but not like that. We knew we had to control the ball to beat an offense as good as theirs."

The Wolverines ground out time-consuming scoring drives of 74, 60, 8 and 53 yards and sent UCLA quarterback Mark Harmon to the sidelines the first period. Harmon said he was "knocked punchy."

Johnny Rodgers scored twice in the first period for Nebraska and the Cornhuskers tallied their next seven touchdowns over a span of nine minutes and 13 seconds—three in the final 3:48 of the first half and four in the first 5:25 of the second half. It was the most points scored against Army in 83 years of football.

With three of its top four runners sidelined, Tennessee went to the air and crushed Wake Forest as Condredge Holloway passed for one score sub Gary Valbuena hit for three.

Alabama's Terry Davis threw for two touchdowns and scored one as Crimson Tide blanked Kentucky and Bert Jones' three scoring passes sparked LSU over Texas A&M.

Kansas State's Vince Gibson called Arizona State "one of the nations best teams" after Danny White passed for two touchdowns and scored two in the Sun Devils' rout of the Wildcats.

Elsewhere, John Skorupan's 32-yard run with an interception climaxed a second-half rally that lifted No. 11 Penn State past Navy 21-10 and Alan Lowry's 34-yard run with his own fumble set up a key touchdown as 14th-ranked Texas opened its season with a rainmarred 23-10 triumph over Miami, Fla.

Washington, ranked 15th, trailed Purdue by 21 points at halftime but finally beat the Boilermakers 22-21 on Steve Wiezbowski's 25-yard fie goal with 2:04 left.

Tulane used two 80-yard drives in the second period and David Ewing' 57-yard punt return in the third to upset No. 16 Georgia 24-13 while Gary Huff and Hodges Mitchell passed and ran No. 17 Florida State over Virginia Tech 27-15.

Eddie McAshan led Georgia Tech by No. 18 Michigan State 21-16 with a pair of scoring tosses. Stanford, No. 19, shaded Duke 10-6 on Rod Garcia's 48yard field goal and Mike Boryla's 12-yard pass to Bill Scott. And No. 20 Mississippi held South Carolina to 75 yards and one first down and whipped the Gamecocks 21-0.

Bengals Use Aerial Attack

HAZELWOOD —Bill Seabaugh passed for three touchdowns in leading Cape Girardeau Central to its third straight high school victory of the season, beating Hazelwood High, 28 -10, Saturday afternoon.

Seabaugh connected on scoring strikes of eight, 10 and 19 yards while passing for an overall total of 151 yards on 12 completions of 22 passes.

Terry Siebert put the Southeast Missouri grid power on the scoreboard in the first quarter when he scored on an eight -yard Sebaugh aerial and Jeff Hutton converted the extra -point boot.

But the Tigers' tough metropolitan foe battled back to send them into their first halftime deficit of the campaign by scoring all 10 of their points in the second frame for a 10 -7 lead at half.

Pete Blake ran 27 yards for the Hawks and Ken Seaman knotted the score with his extra -point kick. Moments later, Seaman put the Hawks ahead with a 37 -yard field goal.

Central's stingy defense, which had allowed only seven points through its first two games, bucked up and held the Hawks at bay through the final 24 minutes of action, while its offense went to work.

Paul Schermann put the Bengals ahead with a 19 -yard scoring play in the third quarter, catching a Seabaugh pass for the score. Hutton converted and the Tigers were ahead for good.

Siebert hauled in his second scoring pass of the game when he teamed with Seabaugh in the fourth frame for a 10 -yard score with Hutton tacking on the extra point.

Tim Vickery ended the Tigers' scoring with a three -yard jaunt and Hutton kicked again.

Cape totaled 354 yards on the game, running for 203, while the Hawks had 136 on the ground and 60 in the air.

Newberry Runs 64 Yds

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Former Sikeston High School grid standout David Newberry scored on a 64-yard punt return Saturday night as Southeast Missouri State University battled to a 10-10 standoff with Arkansas Tech.

The Wonder Boys from Russellville, Ark., who were National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics runners - up last season, started fast against the winless Indians when Craig Williams connected on a 39-yard field goal in the first quarter.

But the Tribe went ahead in the third period with Newberry's electrifying 64-yard scamper and a Carl Gross extra-point kick.

On the following play, however, Arkansas' Benny Shepherd took the kickoff and raced 95 yards for a score. Williams kicked the extra point for a 10-7 lead.

grid quiz

by Dave Nelson, executive secretary, NCAA Football Rules Committee

An SMU scrimmage kick on fourth down goes into the Texas Christian end zone and is untouched by any Texas Christian players. After the ball touches the ground in the end zone a personal foul is committed by SMU in the end zone.

The official should:

1. Award Texas Christian a touchback, first down and 10 on the 35-yard line.

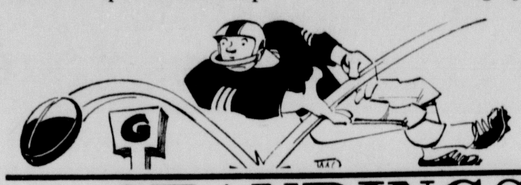

2. Give Texas Christian the option of replaying the down with a 15-yard penalty from the spot of the snap.

3. Declare a touchback with a penalty.

Answer: Number 1. Award Texas Christian a touchback, first down and 10 on the 35-yard line.

Rule: (6-3-9) The ball becomes dead and belongs to the team defending its goal line when a scrimmage kick beyond the neutral zone is untouched by Team B prior to striking the ground on or beyond Team B's goal line.

Rule: (10-2-1) The enforcement spot for a foul committed when the ball is dead is the succeeding spot.

Vo-Tech Note Omitted

In an article titled "Outlines Vo- Tech Ideas," which appeared in Saturday's Daily Standard, an explanatory editor's note was inadvertently omitted.

The interview took place between Dr. George S. Reuter, Superintendent of New Madrid County R-1 Schools, and Mrs. Nadine Townsend, Daily Standard correspondent. It was directed toward answering many of the questions concerning vocational-technical education recently asked by New Madrid County citizens.

The interview, hopefully, will provide some insight into the value and long- range goals of the soon- to- be- completed vo- tech center in Howardville, in particular, as well as vo- tech education in general.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Fortuitous Accident

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Seymour was a pushover for insurance salesmen and, consequently, had enough policies to practically wallpaper his entire house. His lack of resistance to insurance salesmen, however, proved fortuitous. He fell out of bed, one night, and with ten different accident and health policies in his portfolio, the accident to collect under all of them, he anticipated collecting a small fortune.

"Sorry to disappoint you, " responded the insurance companies, "but under the law insurance policies are legal only so long as there's no element of gambling involved. And, in your case, there is. Accident and health policies are intended merely to compensate a person for medical expenses and lost wages.

With 10 policies, you'd be collecting better than 10-to-one odds if we all paid off. That wouldn't be compensation, that would be a killing. It would also be gambling, which makes the policies illegal and void."

"Nonsense," protested Seymour. "I never gambled in my life. The fact is, I get nervous just selecting an hors d'oeuvre. I took out all those policies in good faith and I'm entitled to be paid off on them in good faith."

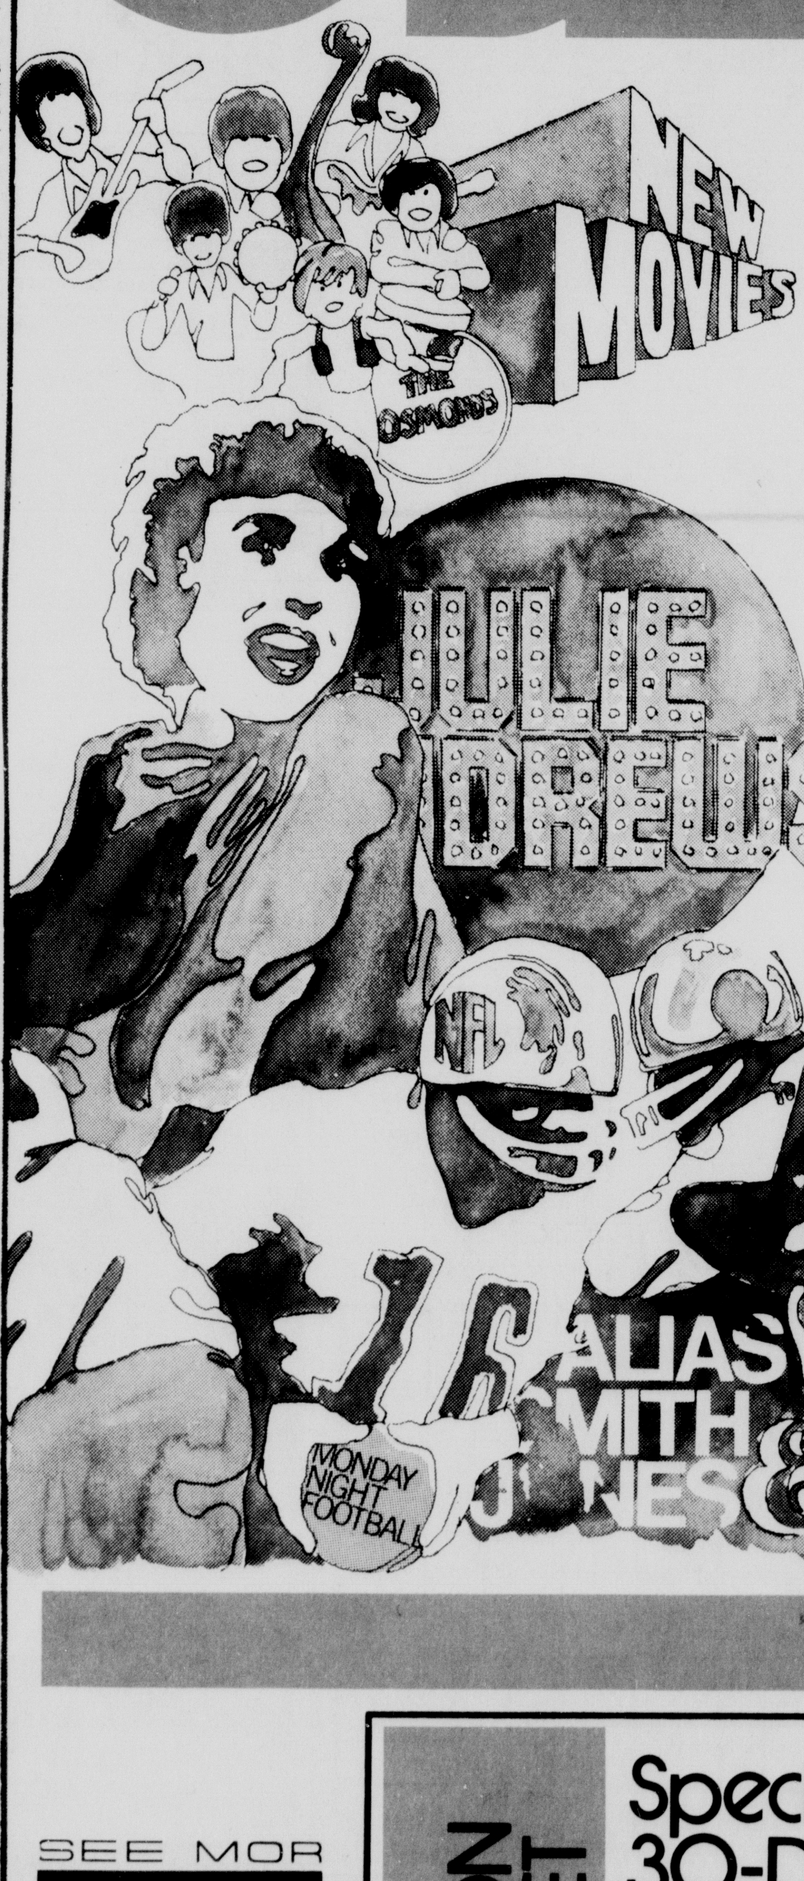

When the payments weren't forthcoming, Seymour sought to collect in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Seymour to collect for his fortuitous accident under all of the policies?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that in the absence of a clause in an insurance policy to the contrary, a person has a right to insure himself for as much as he wants and with as many insurance companies as he can find.

53 Leaders Under Martial Arrest

MANILA (AP) — Fifty-three prominent Filipinos, including two provincial governors, six members of Congress and seven newspapermen, have been arrested in the Manila region since martial law was proclaimed over the weekend, the presidential palace announced today.

Press Secretary Francisco Tatad provided the first official confirmation of the arrests over the single television channel still operating. All but selected media outlets have been closed and news being sent abroad is censored.

Tatad spoke as the island nation awaited details of farreaching reforms planned by President Ferdinand E. Marcos' government to create what it described as a "new society."

Marcos said he was assuming martial law powers and reorganizing his government to block an insurrection threatened by Mao-oriented Communists and to improve conditions for the masses who live in acute poverty.

In his announcement, Tatad said four of the prominent persons detained had subsequently been released.

Among those still under detention were Sen. Benigno Aquino Jr., a leader of the opposition Liberal party, an outspoken critic of Marcos and a possible candidate for the presidency in 1973 elections; Sen. Jose Diokno, member of the civil liberties union; and Sen. Ramon Mitra, another prominent member of the opposition.

A palace official said the announced arrests covered only the Greater Manila area, suggesting that more have been made in the provinces.

Announcement of the detentions confirmed speculation that had been sweeping Manila during a news blackout that followed proclamation of martial law.

In lightning moves, Marcos closed down all but one of Manila's 15 daily newspapers, shut six of the city's seven television stations and nine of the major radio stations.

He has also issued a series of "general orders" aimed, the palace said, at saving the republic from Communist rebellion and creating a "new society."

The measures resulted in:

—Closing of all but selected media outlets and censorship of news sent abroad.

—A temporary ban on Filipinos travelling abroad.

—National control of airlines and sky marshals aboard all planes to thwart possible hijacking.

—Closing of all schools for a week.

—The death penalty for illegal possession of firearms, the start of disarming the many private armies and security forces in this country.

—A ban on all public demonstrations, rallies and labor strikes.

The government has also promised a thorough reorganization to root out "corruption, incompetence and uselessness" and a crackdown against crime syndicates.

SGT. J. L. MURPHY of the Kirkwood Highway Patrol office sits in the seat of a Cessna 182 used to check vehicle speeds on Missouri highways. Murphy says times are converted on a speed chart. He says the view from the air is the most accurate speed check, because a vehicle can be observed for a long distance before the speed is checked at the timing blocks. (Daily Standard Photo)

Arkansas Man Killed, 16 Injured In SeMo

One fatality and 16 injuries occurred in 11 accidents on area roads and highways during the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

John W. Hatley, 49, of Gilmore, Ark., died at 7:35 p.m. when he lost control of his car, ran through a bridge railing and overturned. The accident occurred on Highway 102 two and one-half miles southeast of East Prairie.

An accident at 3:10 p.m. Saturday on a gravel road five miles south of Dexter resulted in a bump on the head to Charlotte Jo Ann Triplett, 19, of Dexter. She hit a hole of water, lost control and overturned. She was treated at Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Three persons were injured Saturday at 3 p.m. on Route N four miles south of Illmo. Joyce Geraldine Cox, 27, of Commerce received a wrist injury and head cuts, Tonya Cox, 3, a concussion, and Richard Clay, 7, a shoulder injury when Mrs. Cox applied her brakes on wet pavement, skidded and ran off road.

At 1:45 a.m. Saturday a pickup truck driven by Denver Alvis Jackson, 28, of Gideon struck a bridge railing on Highway 25 one-half mile east of Holcomb. Jackson received cuts on his face and was treated and released at Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Two cars collided at 10:35 a.m. Saturday on Highway 25 three miles north of Dexter. A car driven by Franklin Spencer, 26, of Caroline Beach, N. C., ran into the rear of a car driven by Jake Brewbaker, 60, of Beardstown, Ill. Injured was Joe Lee McCoy of Lobeville Tenn., apparently a passenger in the Brewbaker auto. He was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital with a broken rib and nose.

At 6:20 p.m. Saturday at the junction of Highway 72 and 34 three miles west of Jackson, an accident occurred involving two cars and injuring two persons. Roy Ray Grindstaff, 51, of Carbondale, Ill., attempted to make a left turn in front of a car driven by Dayton Rusby Green, 34, of Jackson, who could not stop and struck the Grindstaff auto.

Injured was Majorie E. Grandstaff, 47, with hip injuries, and Katie K. Green, with hip, chest and back injuries. Both were taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A pickup truck driven by Paul Allen Henderson, 28, of Fredericktown ran off the road Saturday, struck abridge abutment and overturned. The accident occurred at 10:30 p.m. on Route T six miles west of Fredericktown. Henderson received facial cuts and scratches and was treated at Farmington Community Hospital.

At 4:15 p.m. Sunday on North Rives Township Road, a motorcycle driven by Tommy Steven Staggs, 18, of Hornersville struck a car driven by Zelma Laury Lindsay, 21, of Steele. Staggs

Democrats To Discuss Voter Registration

An organizational meeting for a Democratic voter registration drive will be held at 8:15 p.m., Tuesday at the community room of First National Bank.

The drive will continue for about two weeks and anyone who can give even a few minutes a day is needed. It is not necessary that one be above 18 to take part.

We want everyone interested in the Democratic Party to attend, young as well as old, black, as well as white, and women as well as men.

All citizens should be able to support the goal of making this election the most responsive to the will of the American people of any election in history. In order to achieve this goal we must work so that all qualified and concerned citizens are registered."

Court Okays Petitions For Referendum

NEW MADRID — New Madrid County Court this morning approved petitions for a referendum on voter registration in the county. Court clerk Jesse H. Wilkins said the proposal will be voted on in the Nov. 7 general election.

The petitions, endorsed by 2,102 county voters, were presented to the court Thursday.

Guns Taken From Home

DEXTER — Two guns were taken from the Paul Cox home on North Sassafras Street in Dexter between 2 p.m. and midnight Sunday.

Entrance was made by breaking a lock on a front door. Investigation is under way.

Cash, Drugs Stolen

MOREHOUSE — A total of $1,000 worth of dangerous class two drugs and an estimated $600 in cash were stolen when two safes were pelled at the Morehouse Drug Company in a break -in at 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

New Madrid County Deputh Sheriff Bo Wingo said tools used in the burglary were stolen from a construction company just across the alley from the drug store after the shooting of a watchdog.

Entry was made by knocking a hole in a rear storage -room wall .

Charles O. Rauch, owner of the drug company, said today that he will no longer carry class two drugs' since they seem to be an incentive for thieves. The company has been robbed three times this year.

The robbers were seen leaving in a 1965 or 1966 tan car with the right tail light missing. The investigation is being continued by highway patrol special investigator N.F., Mobley, patrol Cpl. Melvin Moyers and Deputy Wingo .

Fenton Clinic Burglarized

CHARLESTON —The Fenton Clinical Group at 1200 East Marshall Street was entered sometime between midnight and 6 a.m. Sunday, and an estimated $400 worth of drugs and $150 in cash was taken.

The thieves apparently entered the building through an air vent in the roof. Fingerprints have been taken and sent to Jefferson City for positive identification. City policemen Walter Welch and Willie Jarrett are investigating.

Two Arrested For Tape Player Thefts

Police arrested two teen-agers early this morning after they were discovered with two tape players stolen earlier from the Malone & Hyde Inc. parking lot.

Arrested were Danny Price, 17, of 105 Westgate for stealing over $50 and John Everett, 18, of Route Four for stealing over $50 and possession of a concealed weapon.

Price was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary for felonious stealing May 1971. Prosecuting Attorney Tom Gilmore said he thought Price was released from prison earlier this month, but his records do not show the exact release date.

Police were called at 2:40 a.m. to Malone & Hyde by Charles Lewis of 817 Agnes, after he found his tape player and four tapes missing from his car.

While officer Otis Applewhite was looking over the car, Ron Reed of Route Four, Box 235, told Applewhite that a tape player had been taken from his car, also.

About that time, a Malone and Hyde truck driver called the firm and said two youths were trying to sell tape players at the South Side Cafe on South Main.

When Applewhite arrived, the driver pointed out Price and Everett, who were sitting with three other young people.

Both Price and Everett denied having the tape players. Applewhite began checking Everett's car and allegedly found a .22- caliber pistol and a knife hidden under the front seat. He found two tape players in the trunk of the car.

Both youths denied any knowledge of the players.

Reed and Lewis both identified the tape players as the ones they had lost.

Other arrests over the weekend included:

Daniel Wayne Williams of East Prairie Route One, fighting in public; Clay Graham of Blodgett, driving while intoxicated, and Darnell W. Nelson, 1501 Osage, driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

Offer Course Here In Real Estate Appraisal

PORTAGEVILLE —Kathryn Kinnard, area continuing education programmer at Delta Research Center, has announced that a short course in rural and urban real estate appraisal will be offered on Monday evenings, Nov. 6 through Dec. 11 at two area locations.

Instructors for the course, which is being presented simultaneously in Kennett and Sikeston, are Dr. Durward Brewer, associate professor in the Agricultural Economics Department, and Dr. Jake Looney, an attorney, also with the Agricultural Economics Department, both of the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Subject areas to be explained and discussed are basic principles of real property law, the approach used in estimating property value, a legal description of instruments of transfer, mathematical tables and their use in appraising and restriction on land use.

The course is designed for real estate firms and their employees, property owners, appraisors of property for loans and security and for persons interested in becoming informed in this developing field.

The sessions will begin in the Community room at Bank of Kennett at 7 p.m., Nov. 6 and in Sikeston High School at 7:30 p.m. on the same date.

Elliott Newton Real Estate and Insurance Co., Sikeston; Don Jones, Realtor, Kennett; Rigdon -Sexton Mortgage Service, Kennett; Alvyn Smith, Monarch Real Estate, Dexter; Wayne Bond, Caruthersville; Thomas A. Bennett Realty Co., Charleston; Arline Avery, Agriculture Representative, New Madrid; and Bob McAlister, Portageville.

Send fees of only $10 a person to local University of Missouri Extension Centers and Mrs. Kathyrn Kinnard, Area Continuing Education Programmer, P.O. Box 160, Portageville, Mo. 63873 by the enrollment deadline Oct. 30.

WHO VOTES
IN AMERICA?

It seems that in the last few years people are increasingly interested in politics. Women, youths and minorities are swelling the voting ranks, while the unemployed, poor and uneducated become more politically conscious.

Nothing proves this more than youth voting. In 1968, only one-third of the 18-20 year olds (allowed to vote in some states) went to the polls. In the 1970 Congressional races, a mere 26% voted.

Mature citizens vote much more regularly. In 1968, 75% of the 45-64 age group went to the polls. Slightly over half of the 21-24 bracket did. Even the over-65 group topped them (66%).

Rushing to conclusions is obviously a mistake. For example, men vote in higher percentages than women. The men led in 1968, 70% to 66%, and in 1970, 57% to 53%. Those earning over $10,000 yearly vote in higher percentages and those making less, 80% to 65%.

Lack of education is another landmark of poor voting records. Over 80% of the people with more than high school educations voted in 1968, the highest of any educational group. Only 75% of all eligible high school graduates voted, and the figures decline from here.

Should someone argue that the unemployed, worried about job changes, go to the polls more frequently, he would be wrong. In 1968, 71% of the employed voted, but only 52% of the unemployed did. Those not even in the labor force (mostly homemakers) had a higher percentage, 63%.

Given the near- universal suffrage, it goes without saying that everyone ought to vote. Americans, however, are going to the polls less.

For the Congressional election years 1962, 1966 and 1970, voting percentages declined, from 47% to 46% to 44%.

Presidential elections have also seen smaller percentages of voters going to the polls. In 1960, 64% of those eligible cast their ballots. In 1964, 63%, and in 1968, 62%. Congressional elections likewise plummeted (1960, 60%; 1964, 59%; 1968, 57%).

Carping about being "alienated" and being ignored by the "power structure" is palaver when one looks at the facts. Groups, from youths to farmers, complain that no one cares what happens to them. But they themselves do not care (e.g., urban residents vote in higher percentages than rural ones). Until the fault-finders show some interest in the "system," it is not likely that the system will show the interest in them they think they deserve.

SOLONS ON THE GO
AT TAXPAYERS EXPENSE

Speaking of the capital, Congress made 1971 a record year for foreign travel. Members of both houses and staff spent $1,114,386 in public funds on trips abroad, according to a Congressional Quarterly study of congressional travel, up from $825,118 the previous year.

More than half the membership of Congress -- 221 representatives and 53 senators -- at some time during the year was abroad on official business.

Golden Harvest

A THING

In previous Democratic and Republican conventions, after one person has been nominated by a majority of the delegates, the dissidents usually moved to make the selection unanimous.

That final unanimous vote maybe looked good on paper, but it never did mean a thing. Those who had been against the candidate would have continued to be against him if they had thought their preference had a ghost of a chance to win.

Last July after McGovern was nominated, there was no move to make the selection unanimous, and it was just as well.

In a convention conducted under new and more democratic rules, and representing more segments of the population than ever before who set records for expressing the will of the people instead of the will of the political bosses and professionals as formerly, the lack of action for a unanimous vote was refreshing and in keeping with the spirit of the convention.

CORRUPTING JUSTICE

Human kind struggled for untold thousands of years to rise from savagery and barbarism to a social structure which permitted Freedom and Truth and progress to grow. The Founders of this Republic were learned in the history of this struggle by the human race; they understood well the human being were never "automatically" civilized but rather, it requires love, care and a measure of disciplined training to turn the self-centered infant into the civil adult.

One of the key concepts of the founders of Republic USA was the concept of justice. Those who would destroy our Republic have labored diligently to corrupt the meaning of the term "justice" as a means of corrupting the concept. Good citizens should alert themselves, their neighbors and editors of newspapers to this corrupting of justice while we still have our Republic.

When agitators use the term justice these days, too often they do not inted intend justice at all, but rather a kind of mindless leniency which is the exact opposite of justice. Justice, in the former, true sense of the word, meant a merited punishment suitable in severity to the crime in question. It had nothing to do with leniency or with mercy. Mercy is granted to the guilty because of the offender's willingness to see his crime, atone for it and not repeat it.

Today, too many wish to turn murderers loose on society when said murderer shows no remorse and, indeed, promises to go and kill again as a matter of "justice." This is not justice at all, and civilization cannot co- exist with such men loose in society.HLH

Advertising experts have discovered that only forty per cent of the U.S. population accounts for 68% of all television viewing. More interesting other studies indicate the television advertiser -- unless he spends as much as his competition -- may actually contribute to his competitor's sales.

Newspapers and magazines are beginning to profit from these findings and the advertiser is beginning to reassess his advertising budget in many cases. This is often logical because it is known that light television viewers (as apart from those who view more television) tend to be among the higher economic brackets, better educated and better buyers. (In other words, the more ignorant watch more television.)

Those who wish to reach the more affluent market can often do so better with printed advertisements. The printed word, as has been true for centuries, is a permanent record. One doesn't have to hurry through print or miss the raz-ma-taz message. It's effective for a long time, and can be read by a dozen or more people at different times and on different days.

RAISING THE MINIMUM

The Senate has voted to increase the minimum wage level and to extend it to workers who now are not covered. The effect of this proposal would be to give immediate raises to more than six million workers who now earn less than $2 an hour and to give additional raises in the next two years.

The Senate approval came on a rather surprising 65-to-27 vote after the administration proposal for a lesser increase had been defeated by a single vote.

It provides that most workers in manufacturing and retail jobs would get a minimum of $2 an hour this year and $2.20 an hour in 1974. Workers in schools, colleges, laundries, hotels and restaurants would go to $1.80 this year, $2 next year and to $2.20 in 1974.

Workers on the nation's large farms would get increases from the present minimum of $1.30 an hour to $1.60 this year, $1.80 next year, $2 in 1974 and $2.20 in 1975.

The proposal also would extend minimum wages to household maids, gardeners and other such help, but not to babysitters. Other new workers to be covered would be employes of motion picture theaters and seasonal harvest workers on large farms.

This now must go to a conference committee to be reconciled with the legislation passed by the House May 11. That bill would raise the minimum for most manufacturing and retail workers from $1.60 to $1.80 this year, and to $2 in 1973. It offers workers in schools, colleges, laundries, hotels and restaurants a $1.70 minimum which would rise to $1.80 in 1973 and agricultural workers an increase from $1.30 to $1.50 and to $1.70 a year later.

There has been no indication yet as to how the conferees will seek to adjust these differences, but there have been reports the Senate conferees might be willing to accept a somewhat smaller increase in the minimums in return for broader coverage than the House bill would provide.

It is difficult to see how some increase in the minimums can be put off. The Fair Labor Standards Act has not been amended since 1966, and wage rates have increased tremendously since then for those who have been in a position to bargain effectively. This means that the cost of living has soared for those who must for any reason still depend upon federal minimum wage rates.

Some argue that raising the minimums is inflationary. That is a doubtful argument, for as has been pointed out here before those receiving such wages were actually the victims of inflation and not its authors.

There is something to the argument that increased minimums can have an adverse effect upon some workers, however, if their jobs are marginal. One needs only to recall how minimum wages resulted in a sudden disappearance of the task of operating elevators to understand what is involved in this area.

Both the House and Senate bills now under consideration do make some provision for protecting students. The Senate bill would allow them to work parttime during the school year and fulltime during vacations at 85 per cent of the minimum. The House bill sets the minimum for persons under 18 and students under 21 at $1.60 for nonagricultural jobs and $1.30 for farm jobs.

But students are not the only ones who may need special consideration. There are also the elderly seeking to supplement small pensions and particularly the unskilled and less educated teenager group whose wages can supplement family incomes even though they cannot hold jobs that would be considered important enough to demand full pay.

In resolving the differences between these two bills, the conferees would be making a contribution to these groups if they provided some exemptions for them.

How Meany Beat Glamor, Dustin Hoffman Et Al., In Critical Presidential Preview Primary Election

NEW YORK — Blithely this nation and many a political specialist have overlooked the preview of the Presidential campaign, the infighting of the old champs, the old politics against the new, the grizzlies of precinct politics against the glamor of McGovernism, George Meany directing his labor legions against Dustin Hoffman, Marlo Thomas and the new quixotics marshalled by one Allard Lowenstein, who claims he personally forced Lyndon Johnson to throw in his hand in '68.

It all happened over in Brooklyn's old 14th Congressional District, a melting pot of Catholics and orthodox Hasidic Jews, older generations of Italians and Irish, and hard-working blacks and Puerto Ricans. A mix which would have heartened the 19th century poetess Emma Lazarus who beseeched the world to send her and America its poor.

For 28 years it has been represented in the House of Representatives by Democrat John J. Rooney -- friend of the people, friend of the FBI, mentor of the Justice Dept., critic and conscience of State Dept. funds, monitor of the Judiciary and the Commerce Dept. For he is chairman of the subcommittee on appropriations for these departments and divisions.

To challenge him came former Congressman Allard Lowenstein, scion of the Americans for Democratic Action, disciple of Harvard Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith, youngish hope of McGovern's legions -- and so close to the Democratic candidate that he could tell me on the second day of the Democratic National Convention in Miami last July that the Vice Presidential candidate would be an "unknown": Sen. Tom Eagleton. He wasn't guessing. I vouch for that.

Lowenstein, who discovered anti- war- ism long before it came to Sen. McGovern, is the antithesis of everything AFL-CIO president George Meany stands for. Meany looked up sharply when the courts threw out Rooney's first Democratic primary victory last June 20. And then when the courts ordered a second primary race for Tuesday, Sept. 19, the old Bronx flash moved as only those who have power and understand it can.

Meany telephoned John Rooney, now 68 and ailing. The 15- term seniority and the valuable chairmanship would not be lost, Meany said in effect. Then the AFL-CIO chief pushed all the buttons. He called the Seafarers' chief Paul Hall, one of labor's most skilled political actionists whose national union headquarters is near the Brooklyn waterfront. Then the call went to Longshoremen's president Ted Gleason, who even then was preparing to endorse Richard Nixon, and to Longshoremen's national vice president Tony Scotto, also there on the docks; to Ray Corbett, president of the New York State AFL-CIO Federation; and to the silver-haried loner, Harry Van Arsdale, Electrical Brotherhood National Treasurer, and chief of this city's 1.1- million- member Central Labor Council.

They moved into action -- with money, manpower and the political muscle which is in sound trucks, caravans and "personal" computerized letters. Scotto's counsel Tony Mennelli, executive director of the Maritime Port Council, moved in as John Rooney's campaign director. He worked with the Democratic county chairman Meade Esposito and the district leader Jim Mangano, in a sense the Eastern Richard Daley.

While Lowenstein was aided by the Hollywood and TV set, and by chicken fries, marimba bands and such out- of- staters as California's Republican Congressman Paul McCloskey, the labor people, coordinated by the youngish Mennelli, steadily directed by the youngish Scotto, hit the streets in shifts. Gleason held off endorsing President Nixon for reelection so it wouldn't confuse his charge into internal Democratic politics.

They worked in shifts. The International Longshoremen's Assn. sent in two shifts of some 300 to 400 men. The Seafarers landed some 300 sailors. Ray McKay, leader of District 2, Marine Engineers, put in 100. Van Arsdale, always working alone, crisscrossed the district with his electrical workers.

They were united. They rang doorbells as of old. They called for the voters and escorted them to the polls. They stood on street corners and vied at shopping centers with Dustin Hoffman. They watched the balloting.

And they won. They rolled up a winning margin of some 1,500 more votes for Rooney than he had polled in the first Democratic primary.

In the black and Puerto Rican areas, Lowenstein's new politics lost anywhere from 20 to 45 per cent of his June votes. The old politics had driven off the invaders, the challengers.

Why had the labor legions turned out? It was not just for an old friend. Rooney is a power in Congress, the kind labor is fighting for in this national election. For example, when the Pentagon wanted to shut down the famed old Brooklyn Army base so well known to hundreds of thousands of embarking soldiers, Rooney cut off the appropriations needed by the Army to shift some 300 workers to similar facilities in the consolidated Bayonne, N.J., district across the bay. Thus he saved these jobs for the American Federation of Government Employees -- and some 300 longshore jobs.

When the Brooklyn Navy Yard was shut, Rooney got the first appropriation to keep it going. Now a tanker is being built there and more to come. Rooney got the subsidy needed for this construction -- and with the reopening warehouses saved 2,500 jobs.

He is a powerful chairman. And the labor leaders marshalled by Meany, directed by Mennelli, Scotto and Hall, delivered. You can't eat glamor. Not even Dustin Hoffman's of Lowenstein's new politics.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON —Former Attorney General John Mitchell's name has been linked to the Watergate espionage operation by a principal witness in the case.

The witness, Alfred Baldwin, has sworn he was a member of the Mission Impossible crew that spied on Democratic Party headquarters. One of his espionage reports, he has alleged, was addressed personally to Mitchell.

By Baldwin's account, he gave an oral report to James McCord, Jr. who was then the security coordinator of President Nixon's campaign committee. In Baldwin's presence, McCord allegedly put the report in writing and addressed it to Mitchell.

Subsequently, McCord was arrested at gunpoint with four other men inside Democratic headquarters. They were wearing surgical gloves and carrying eavesdropping equipment.

Baldwin has confessed that he monitored conversations picked up by a bug planted in one of the Democratic Party telephones. The bugged conversations were reported in memos, which McCord sent both to the White House and the campaign committee, Baldwin claims.

The memo that went to Mitchell, however, didn't deal with the bugging operation. As Baldwin tells it, he was asked to check on security in the building where the President's campaign committee has its headquarters.

He cozied up to a secretary in the law firm of Reeves and Harrison, which has offices in the same building. She told him that one of the law partners had contributed to George McGovern's campaign.

--SECURITY RISK--

When Baldwin reported this to McCord, the security chief allegedly dashed off a memo to Mitchell warning that the law firm was a political security risk.

Baldwin gave the FBI a 100 -page statement detailing his role in the Watergate caper. Thereafter, he reportedly was granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for his testimony before a federal grand jury.

A former FBI agent, Baldwin said he had been assigned at first as a security guard for Martha Mitchell. His instructions were not to let her out of his sight except when she went to bed. He was also handed a roll of money and was instructed to buy her anything she wanted and to pay cash, he said.

When he jointed the Watergate espionage operation, Baldwin said, McCord shoved a .38 pistol at him. Baldwin protested that he didn't have a pistol permit. McCord allegedly told him that he didn't need one, because he was attached to the President's campaign committee.

On May 9, Baldwin said he caught an Allegheny flight to visit his home in Connecticut. As he boarded, the electronic anti -hijacking equipment detected the pistol. He couldn't produce a permit, so he was detained while the airline checked with the President's campaign committee.

Apparently, pistols, burglar tools, bugging devices, surgical gloves and cameras suitable for photographing documents were all part of the standard equipment available at the President's campaign headquarters across the street from the White House.

-- BANK RECORDS --

Justice Department lawyers, apparently, have lied to the courts about the practice of snooping into people's private bank accounts without court authorization.

On several occasions, we have published excerpts from FBI files which prove bankers willingly turn over their customers' records without being served with a subpoena.

A month ago, however, government lawyers in San Francisco and Washington, D.C., told the federal courts the government always gets a summons or subpoena first.

Not only does this fly directly in the face of our documentary evidence, but it also contradicts the testimony of a highly placed Justice Department official.

The official, organized crime chief William Lynch, admitted to a Senate subcommittee last month that "in certain types of investigations" government sleuths get bank records without a subpoena "with some degree of frequency."

Under intense questioning by Sen. John Tunney, D —Calif., who is leading a move to write laws protecting the privacy of bank records, Lynch also confessed that "in particular situations they (banks) have been reasonably cooperative."

In other words, what the U.S. attorneys said in court flatly contradicts the Justice Department's testimony before the Senate. Someone, obviously is lying.

Footnote: In his Senate testimony, Lynch said the FBI went after bank records only when investigating "violations of criminal statute." We have documented cases in which the FBI got the bank records of dissidents like Jane Fonda, Dr. Benjamin Spock, and black civil rights leader Floyd McKissick. So Senator Tunney was prompted to ask Lynch whether "criminal statute" violations included "political surveillance cases." Replied Lynch: "I do not know what you mean by that."

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The most difficult goal for any person to achieve is to become a real human being. One is fortunate if he succeeds after the effort of a long lifetime.

The only time you can depend on most people to be totally honest with themselves is when they doubt themselves.

The rich are not so hard to understand once you realize that their morals are never quite as bad as their manners.

His willingness to lend you money in an emergency isn't the best test of a friend. A friend is a guy who, when he has a royal flush and you have four of a kind in a poker game, refrains from baiting you into betting your way into bankruptcy. He leaves you dazed and with your wallet bruised and bloody, but alive and with enough spare change to take a cab home. That's friendship.

The best picture of the year is "Deliverance," which is brutal, ecological and memorable. One of the opening scenes, featuring a banjo and guitar duet between a blind mountain boy and a grownup city feller, is a gentle screen classic. It is so touching it makes you want to cry with gladness for its warmth.

I've tossed coins in scores of charitable wishing wells in traveling across America, but can't recall a single wish ever coming true. I can't decide whether I need to start tossing in larger coins or making smaller wishes.

Women love to get something for nothing, even though it is something they usually would have no use for. The other day I saw three elderly, welldressed ladies at the seashore clacking like happy chickens over three 10-pound bluefish that a passing sport fisherman had presented them. I'd wager that if the husband of any of these ladies had come home with a stiffened 10-pound fish, he would promptly have had it wrapped around his ears.

Which reminds me: Will the lady who has been sending me on the first of the month for the last three months a package containing a single red, red rose and a well-done breaded veal cutlet, please desist. I love the roses, but I can't stand breaded veal cutlets, and that goes for my cat, too.

Jet Smashes Ice Cream Parlor

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — "It took one wall where the 17 kids were and just pushed it," one witness gasped after a burning plane slashed into an ice cream parlor jammed with children and their parents, killing 22 persons.

Authorities said one entire family of four died in the crash Sunday along with at least 10 children. Twenty-six others — mostly children — were injured when the private plane catapulted across a highway shortly after takeoff and hit Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor.

The pilot of the Korean warvintage jet fighter survived and was quoted as saying, "I'm sorry! I'm sorry!" as he was pulled from the wreckage.

Describing the scene at the wall where the 17 youngsters had been sitting, Dave Thorton said, "They were all in a big pile. It just pushed them." He ran ran to the crash area from a nearby bowling alley.

A 12-year-old girl in the shop crowded with about 100 persons said she thought it was "a gimmick" to accompany the serving of a special ice cream sundae. "Then everyone started screamong and running."

Don McClusky, a management trainee working at the store, said a birthday party group of 17 persons was seated at the table at the front window and had just been served with ice cream, candy and favors when the plane crashed through the wall beside them. Most of the dead were found in that part of the store.

The crash occurred as the F86 Sabrejet was taking off from Sacramento's Executive Airport after participating in an air show. The plane had been converted to civilian use.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to lose power in the takeoff. It crashed on an old levee barrier at the end of the runway and hurtled across a four-lane highway.

The craft burst into flames about the time it hit three autos parked by the front entrance to the ice cream parlor. Two of the autos were rammed with the burning plane through the front of the building.

Twenty of the dead were tentatively identified as customers in the store. Two others had been seated in one of the autos crushed by the jet.

He said he had few calls from parents, possibly because some of the parents were among the hospitalized.

A witness said a man with a pair of wire cutters ran to the blue and gold jet — risking the flames — and cut the pilot loose.

The witness told newsmen the pilot was crying and saying over and over again, "I'm sorry! I'm sorry!"

Heat from the crash charred paint on parked automobiles 60 feet away. The impact knocked over mannequins in windows at the other end of the block.

Witnesses gave contradictory accounts of when the fire started, but several said that the wings — which contain the fuel tanks — were severed from the rest of the craft as it roared toward the ice cream parlor.

All of the other stores in the plush shopping center were closed or had just one or two persons each inside.

"There was an explosion with a ball of flames. It was just huge. It was bright orange and yellow with black smoke around it," said Barbara Fine, who was in a fabric store behind the ice cream parlor.

"People weren't crying and screaming. It wasn't hysteria— people were in shock," she said. "Some people were bleeding, and one child I was comforting was burned very badly on her feet and legs."

The operation continued for hours. The covered bodies — many of them small figures — were put in ambulances and quickly moved from the scene. Burned toys, chairs and other objects were piled on two sides of the building.

Parts of the aircraft were separated from the wreckage by investigators and hauled away. A heavy duty tow truck finally pulled the yellow and blue body of the plane from the store, wrenching a big chunk of the wall out with it.

Farrell's was a favorite spot for neighborhood children. A visit there was a special treat. Again and again, comments were heard in the crowd when each family last was in the store: "Just a couple days ago." "Just last week. We sat in that very chair."

Gas Explosion Hits Chattanooga Tanks

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Leaking gasoline touched off an explosion that engulfed four million-gallon storage tanks early today, shooting flames 400 feet into the air. Seven persons were injured, four seriously.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported that air traffic was being directed away from the area because of the danger of more explosions.

The fire scene was in northeast Chattanooga near the Chattanooga Airport.

The tanks were owned by Southern Facilities Inc., which supplies independent gasoline stations in the area. Across the road was another major tank storage yard, with facilities owned by Humble, Shell, Cities Service and American Oil Co. Fire officials said there appeared slight danger of the fire spreading to those tanks.

The leak was discovered at 6 a.m. By that time, police said, several thousand gallons of gasoline had leaked out.

Claims No Aggressiveness Toward Federal Funds For Mo.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Missouri too often has lacked the resourcefulness and aggressiveness to take advantage of all federal funds available, Democratic gubernatorial candidate Edward L. Dowd said Sunday.

The funds, Dowd said, are those which would be available for governmental programs such as planning, better housing, new law enforcement and occupational safety.

Dowd's remarks were those contained in a speech prepared for a biennial conference of Teamsters Union Local 688.

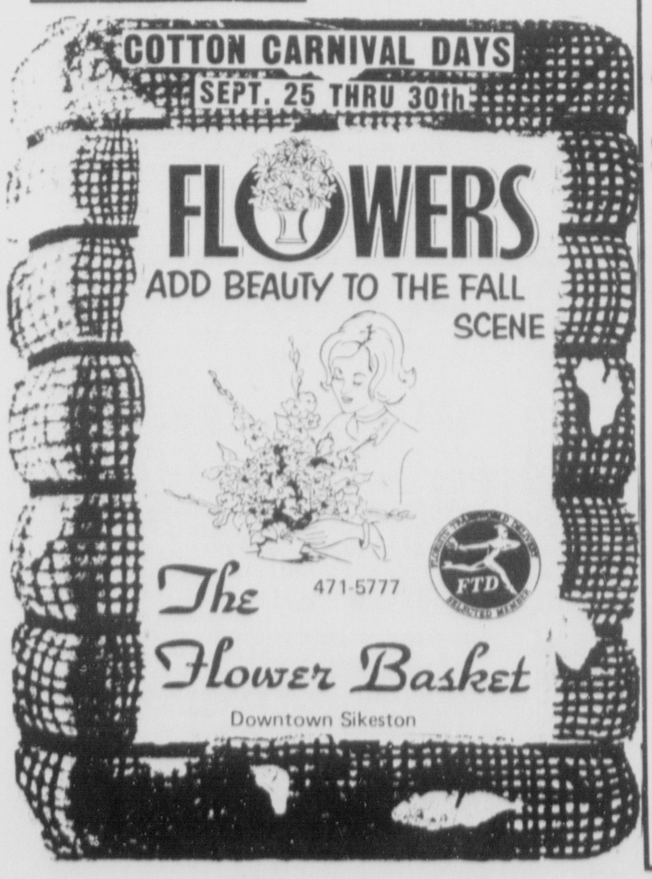

If he is elected, Dowd said, "Missouri is going to get every dollar that's available to it from the federal government."

Werner-Howle

The new Mrs. Werner is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ephriam Jarit Keith of Sikeston and thylate Mr. and Mrs. James Polk Howle of Charleston.

Werner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Werner and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Werner, Sr., and Mrs. Theo Kassell and the late Mr. Kassell, all of Frohna.

Mrs. Melvin Dean Johnson of Scott City, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and carried white daisies. Miss Sue Jackson of Cape Girardeau, fraternity sister; Miss Judy Werner of Frohna, sister of the groom; and Miss Carolyn Jean McCord of Sikeston were bridesmaids. Their dresses were of organza embroidered with pastel daisies and they carried nosegay bouquets of daisies to match.

Werner's attendants were his brother, Terry Werner of Frohna as best man. Groomsmen were Dan Compas and Ken Fehlig, both of St. Louis, fraternity brothers, and Greg Kassell of Monrovia, Calif., his cousin.

Ushers were Melvin D. Johnson of Scott City, brother-in-law of the bride, and Ron Kassell of Austin, Tex., cousin of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown designed and fashioned by her mother. It was of eggshell, satinback shantung with high-waisted bodice of Irish loomed lace in the same shade, finished with wide satin streamer caught in a bow at the center. She wore a Juliet hat of the same lace with hip length tulle. Her bouquet was of white daisies and yellow rose buds. She carried her great- grandfather Keith's Bible and a lace hankerchief which had been carried by her mother at her wedding.

Organist Mrs. J. E. Childess played selections chosen by the bride and just after the parents were seated, she accompanied Rick Hirst of St. Ann, who sang, "If Ever I Would Leave You." While the couple knelt to receive the benediction, Hirst sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte.

Mrs. Howle wore a street-length dress of double knit in coral with matching headpiece. The groom's mother, Mrs. Werner, wore a dark blue and white double knit with white accessories. Both mothers' corsages were white roses.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The hall and tables were decorated and catered by the United Methodist Women's organization of the Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Werner

Werner graduated from Perryville High School and Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau with a degree in industrial arts with a certificate of draftsman's art. His fraternity is Sigma Chi. He is employed by Combustion Engineering in St. Louis.

Mrs. Werner attended Sikeston High School and graduated from Southeast Missouri State College with a degree in music. She is an elementary music teacher at the Missouri School For The Blind in St. Louis. She is a member of the international fraternity Sigma Alpha Iota.

Out-of-town guests, besides the wedding group, were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Werner Sr. and Mrs. Theo Kassel, grandparents of the groom, Miss Donna Werner sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Terry W. Werner, Mrs. Linna Roth, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Petzoldt, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Petzoldt and Natalie.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Best, Mrs. Erica Best, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Vogel, Miss Sharon Bremer, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lorenz, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Heider, Mrs. Anita Streiler, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rabold, Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Stelling, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Werner, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gruenwald and family, all from Frohna.

From Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Schmidt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Garry Lungwitz, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Werner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harlin Oberndorfer and family and Mr. Vernon Littge and family.

From St. Louis, Gordan Blanton, R. D. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kiehne, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fehlig and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Compas

Mrs. Bonnie K. Gocke of Pales Verdes Estates, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kassel, Miss Connie Kassel and Gregory Kassel, of Monrovia, Calif.

Ronald Kassel of Austin, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kassel and sons of Bloomfield, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Werner of Perryville, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Werner, Jr. and family of Edwardsville, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engert and family of Oak Ridge, Mrs. Rita Klaus, Robert Klaus and Theo Oberdorfer of Uniontown, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Avis of Caruthersville, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Johnson and Amy of Scott City, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robert of Illmo, Mrs. Bill Jackson of Bertrand.

The evening before the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Werner were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Two-Tony's Restaurant for the wedding group, out-of-town guests, the family and special friends. The tables were decorated with wide yellow ribbon and small pedestals of wedding decorations and candles.

Smith-Averett

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leon Smith

DEXTER —Soft candlelight illuminated the altar setting at Southwest Church of Christ at 7:30 as Miss Jane Ellen Averett and Robert Leon Smith exchanged marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Averett Jr., Route One, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith, also of Route One.

Recorded selections were played prior to the ceremony and the traditional wedding march and recessional were used, under the direction of Mrs. Ed Bridges.

Escorted to the altar and presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of white, silk organza. The bodice featured a traditional neckline, short sleeves and was lavishly adorned with Alencon lace. The skirt was also appliqued with the lace and flowed gracefully as a chapel train.

Her short bouffant veil was held securely by a contour headpiece of pearled Venise lace and she carried a nosegay of white carnations and white daisies interspersed with baby's breath.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Serving were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Bill Flowers and Mrs. George P. Dawson of Dexter, and Mrs. D.M. Sailors of Pacificia, Calif.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Dexter High School and is employed at Citizens Bank. The groom, a 1971 Dexter High School graduate, is an employee of Monaco Eggs.

District Officers Of Rebekah Lodge Installed

Installed for 1973 were Mrs. Myra Lumm of Charleston, president; Mrs. Jewell Boss of Cape Girardeau, vice president; Mrs. Jim Wallace of Scott City, warden; Mrs. Charles Skinner of Sikeston, secretary; and Mrs. Coy Welker of Cape Girardeau, treasurer.

Other lodges represented were Cape Girardeau, Scott City, Charleston, East Prairie, Morehouse, Hayti, Caruthersville and Steele.

Ann Landers

Old Girlfriends Provide Laughs

Dear Ann Landers: I must comment on the letter from the reader who wrote to say she was incensed to discover that an acquaintance was using an ancestral crest very similar to theirs and she was sure the woman had "copied" it. Isn't it amazing what some people view as a problem? It must be wonderful to have so little to worry about!

One of the great things about the United States is that, with few exceptions, its people have rejected status by inheritance in favor of status by achievement. Each person must stand or fall on the strength of what he is able to make of himself.

Who cares about noble ancestors if nobility of character has not been passed along through parent -child relationships? And what does it matter if one's ancestors were bastards so long as the person himself has risen above bastardly conduct?

Some people with similar family crests deserve each other. The fact that the woman would complain suggests that she is leaning heavily on her dead relatives for status. --New Mexico.

Dear New: The mental picture of a person leaning on dead relatives is somewhat ludicrous, but it puts the whole thing in proper perspective. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I've got a little advice for that woman who wonders if she should insist that her husband destroy his box fulled with pictures of former girl friends. Don't do it, dear. Put the box away, out of sight, so you won't run into it every time you clean. Forget about the bloomin' thing and one day you'll be glad you did. Tom and I celebrated our 30th wedding anniversary last week and I decided the time had come to sit down and go through the box of pictures. Well, Ann, we laughed so hard tears rolled down our cheeks. The outfits, the hair-dos, the poses -- it was better than an old movie.

My husband and I started to reminisce. It was amazing how many of the girls who were once cute and popular are nowout-of-shape and no longer attractive. The hotshot of yesteryear selected as "Most likely to succeed" was lost in the shuffle and never heard from again. Tell your readers that throwing out pictures can be a big mistake. Advise them to put away those mementos and one day they'll be glad they did. --- Still Laughing

Dear Still: I wish I'd thought of this angle. Thanks for improving on my advice.

Dear Ann Landers: The pastor of our church had been visiting a widow who lives near me, almost daily since her husband died. At first we thought it was very considerate of him to take such a personal interest in her, but it's been three years now and she's had plenty of time to learn how to handle her grief alone.

There is a lot of whispering in our town about this twosome and I don't think it is doing our church any good. Should we speak to the woman, to the misister, or to the misister's wife? We want to proceed in a way that will be best for everybody. We feel certain that if the minister or his wife were aware of the gossip he would behave differently. Please advise. --- Observers

Dear Observers: If the minister had been visiting a woman every day for three years his wife probably knows about it and is handling it in the way that is best for her. My advice is to mind your own business

Club Builds New Popcorn Trailer

Rotarian Bill Swann, 309 Kramer Drive, headed a group of Rotary Club members who recently built a new trailer to assist Rotary members in selling popcorn for the Cotton Carnival this year.

The trailer was moved into place Sunday and made ready for the annual event. The trailer has a popcorn machine in each end. The club purchased a new machine to replace one of the older machines.

Judge Hears Seven Cases

EAST PRAIRIE —Six persons appeared before Police Judge J. Marvin Bryan this morning.

Fines of $20 were assessed Kenny Williford and Earnest Easley for public intoxication. Lucille Warren was fined $25 and Jerry Warren was fined $20 for peace disturbance and using profane language.

Tells Americans Others Will Be Freed Only After Settlement Of Viet War

HANOI (AP) — North Vietnamese Prime Minister Pham Van Dong reasserted Sunday to a delegation of Americans in Hanoi to escort home three released fliers that remaining pilots in capitivy will be freed only when an agreement is reached to settle the war.

In a 90-minute informal discussion attended by this reporter, Dong told antiwar activists Cora Weiss, David Dellinger, Rev. William Sloane Coffin and Prof. Richard Falk that a framework for negotiating a settlement to the war has long been available.

That was the seven-point proposal put forward by the Provisional Revolutionary Government, the Viet Cong, that calls for the total withdrawal of American forces and the formation of a coalition government.

Dong said he wanted to stress the importance of the Sept. 11 clarification statement put forward in Paris by the Viet Cong delegation head, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, on a three-party coalition government for South Vietnam.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam would be excluded under this formula, but Saigon would be allowed to name anyone else to one-third of the government, the Viet Cong another third. The final third would be comprised of Catholics, Buddhists, exiled South Vietnamese in Paris and others.

The greying, wiry North Vietnamese leader told the delegation that the pilots should be released and that it would be a good act.

He asserted that President Nixon was aware of the necessity for a settlement first before their freedom and that there was no misunderstanding.

The premier said he felt that despite this Nixon was following a policy that delivered pilots into North Vietnamese hands and the number was increasing.

Dong insisted that N rth Vietnam wants to release all captured pilots and that moment would come when there was positive response to the proposals already tabled for a settlement.

Mrs. Weiss, cochairman of the committee of liason with the families of the servicemen detained in North Vietnam, told this reporter Sunday that the prospect of a meeting with the premier was one reason for the delay in leaving Hanoi for the United States with the three released pilots.

Another reason for the delay, she said, was that the delegation had a responsibility to make contact with other pilots still detained.

Dong declined comment on the mettings between U.S. presidential aide Henry Kissinger and Le Duc Tho, adviser to the Hanoi peace delegation in Paris, on the grounds of promised secrecy.

In a long discussion on the war, Dong referred to Americans who thought they could have defeated North Vietnam with armaments and politics and who had imagined for years that the Hanoi government would not survive. Those people are still waiting for the end just as they waited in 19641968, he said.

The premier admitted that much of his country was devastated and that his his people had made many sacrifices, but he said their minds were lucid and hearts proud, they knew the reasons to fight and that to win the war meant winning peace, independence and freedom.

A delegation member brought up offers by some Americans peace activists to serve as hostages against U.S. bombing and to interpose their bodies between bombs and the Vietnamese people.

Dong said it was difficult to comment because the gesture of those people was obviously from their hearts. His people could only show respect and admiration but as a people who were realistic they had to give serious thought to those proposals.

His own personal view was that the battlefield for those in America who opposed war was in America and that the battlefield for his people was in Vietnam.

Scientists Say Drug Not Yet Cancer Cure

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Scientists at Oak Ridge National Laboratory caution that a potential breakthrough in the treatment of cancer cannot yet be regarded as the discovery of a complete cure.

The warning was issued during the weekend as a barrage of telephone calls came to the laboratory after it announced that the bacterial agent BCG had been found "100 per cent effective" in treating cancer in animals.

David Sundbert, public information director at the laboratory, said many of the calls were from people whose relatives have cancer.

Dr. Michael Hanna Jr., an ORNL scientist who announced the findings Friday, said BCG cannot be regarded as a definitive cure for cancer.

There are a larger number of cancer types in humans, he said, and "we can't be certain this will work against all of them."

Dr. Herbert Rapp of the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., said BCG has been used thus far only on humans with skin cancer.

"We will have to gain the confidence of the clinical world, and it may take as long as five years," he said.

Hanna said the BSG treatment works by stimulating the body's natural reactions against tumors so that cancer cells are destroyed.

"The important thing is that we've opened the door to treatment by immune therapy. I think it would work on cancers like lung cancer if they are situated so that the chemical can be injected into them." he said

November Ballot Has Two Constitutional Amendments

Missourians will vote at the general election in November on two amendments to the Missouri Constitution, according to an official notice from Secretary of State Jim Kirkpatrick. They will be published next week and the following week.

Amendment No. 1 would authorize the General Assembly to exempt from taxation: household goods and articles of personal use, part of the valuation of real property owned as a homestead by persons over 65 years of age; intangible property owned by individuals, labor, agricultural and horticultural organizations, not- for- profit corporations, and hospitals exempt from the state income tax. It would also provide for the restitution to the respective political subdivisions of revenue lost by reason of such exemption, and provide financial relief to persons over 65 who occupy rental property as their homes.

Amendment No. 2 would authorize the General Assembly to consider bills returned by the Governor five days or less before last day bills can be considered in odd-numbered years by placing the bill at the top of the calendar for consideration at the next regular session, and if bills are so returned, in even- numbered years by reconvening for a period not to exceed ten days.

State's Masons To Convene

Committee reports, progresss on the new Masonic Home of Missouri in St. Louis County, a review of activities over the last 12- months, adoption of a budget and election of officers will occupy the delegates until the conclusion of business Tuesday afternoon.

Past Grand Master Joseph Batchelor, professor of economics at the University of Indiana, artist Jack Abshier of the Kansas City Star, and Jack Buck, sports broadcaster for the St. Louis Cardinals, will be among the featured speakers at the two-day session.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — More than 1,200 delegates are expected in St. Louis Monday for the opening of the 151st annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Missouri.

Davis will be honored in two programs Sunday beginning with a DeMolay initiatory class named in his honor and concluding with a banquet Sunday night.

Recommend Property Tax Stay

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Property tax should continue to be one means of financing public elementary and secondary education, a study group of 107 Missourians recommends.

And the state's 605 school districts should be consolidated into less than half that total, the study says.

The Kansas City Star, which said it obtained copies of the study after the Missouri Education Department refused to disclose it, said Sunday those were the main points of the report.

The department arranged for the study by four committees on sources of revenue, distribution of funds, school district structure and educational programs.

Dr. Loran G. Townsend and Delmar Coble, study co-directors, said the recommendations were only tentative. They said the reports will be presented in a series of regional conferences beginning Oct. 4.

Malden CB Projects Inspected

MALDEN — An inspection team representing the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development of Jefferson City, visited Malden Tuesday for an onsite inspection of the city's yearly Community Betterment projects.

The team, composed of Bob Hendrix, executive director, Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce; Larry B. Maecham, KODE-TV of Joplin; and Lila D. Bush of Missouri Municipal League, Jefferson City, complimented Malden's entry by stating that it was one of the better entries of the entire program.

The inspection team also had praise for the Student Council and the Beta Club of Malden High School and the senior citizens of Malden.

Industrial Development Post Filled

MALDEN — Pat Lea of Sikeston, chairman of Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, announced the appointment of Pat Lewis to head the Bootheel Industrial Development Program at Thursday night's joint meeting with Bootheel Economic Development Council.

Lewis, 36, of Greenwood, Miss., is well acquainted with this type of work. He and his family will move to Malden, and he will begin his assignment on Oct. 2.

Lea also appointed a 24-man steering committee to guide the development program.

BRPC was given permission for a pilot housing program, a research and demonstration project to develop low cost housing for rural areas.

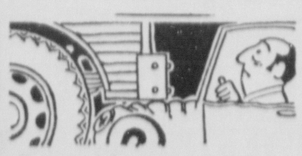

Also discussed was the development of a solid waste program to be completed next month. The commission should know soon if government assistance will be available to implement recommendations in the plan.

Voter Sign-up Ends Oct. 10 In Miss. Co.

CHARLESTON — Registration deadline for Mississippi County residents who wish to vote in the Nov. 7 general election is 4:30 p.m. Oct. 10.

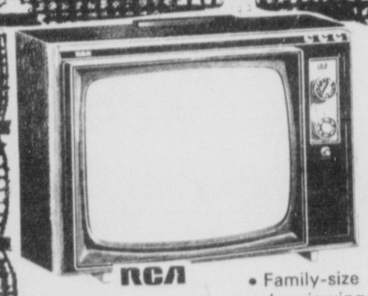

Prospective voters may register at the county clerk's office in the courthouse in Charleston or Douglas Insurance Agency, 120 East Washington Drive in East Prairie.

According to Arthur Lee Goodin, county clerk, anyone living in the county who is 18 years old or older may register.

STATE POLITICAL PLASTFORMS IN REVIEW

Now that the Democratic and Republican state committee have submitted their party platforms to the voters of Missouri, it might be good to review, in depth, some of the areas of the platforms to compare and contrast the parties.

To begin with the two parties argued, in principle, with the problems of closed meetings. The Republicans suggested an "open meetings law" while the Democrats suggested proposals are similar to the so-called "sunshine" amendment which failed to reach the November ballot for lack of sufficient signatures.

They also agreed basically in the area of drug problem in Missouri. Both urged that the pushers of hard drugs be subject to severe penalties while the users be provided with rehabilitation. Youth also should be educated in the dangers of drug abuse, the platforms suggested.

In the area of political reform, the Democrats urged legislation to "furtner limit campaign spending" to control the high cost of seeking public office although they did not specify how it might be limited. The Republicans suggestions for campaign spending included "spending limits without the present loopholes be established; candidates be required to list contributions and expenditures" before and after the election and "candidates be required to list all contributions, not just 90 days before the election."

For the consumer, both platforms urged modification of the "holder in due course" doctrine to increase the consumer's protection. Both parties also urged some method whereby persons with small claims could receive them without excessive cost. The Democrats urged legislation to protect consumers from "high pressure sales tactics;" the Republicans want to provide a three day "cooling-off period for goods sold by door-to-door salesman."

The Democrats called for a presidential primary in Missouri for the selection of delegates to the national party conventions. The Republicans did not call for this, but did urge blanket ballot for primary voters be established in Missouri which would allow a person to vote for the candidate of his choice without giving his party affillation. In addition, the Republicans suggested a change in the primary date to the first Tuesday following the first Monday in September.

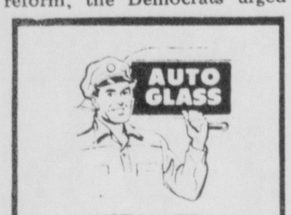

Since this is the year of the 18-year-old vote, both parties included the youth in their platforms. The Democrats urged the question of extending full citizenship rights be subject to the will of the people; the Republicans urged reform of "our statutes" to give 18-year-olds citizenship rights. Both parties urged favoring "the appointment of students or other individuals who are intimately acquainted with the needs of students" to the state univesities' governing boards.

Women were not be to forgotten either. Both urged ratification of the equal rights amendent. The Democrats urged equality for women on credit, mortages, insurance, property, rental and finance contracts, while the Republicans urged elimination of special exemptions for women regarding jury service. The Republicans urged state support for day care centers for needy mothers, while the Democrats suggested competent women be appointed to high-level responsibility positions.

For the elderly, both platforms favored providing tax relief for older people. The Democratic party gave "total support" to proposition No. 1 which will appear on the November ballot. It calls for an amendment to the constitution which would enact tax relief "through exemption for senior citizens on both real and personal property" through either the homestead exemption or circuit breaker plan. Both platforms also urge enforcement of nursing home licensing laws.

Finally, both parties urge equality for all citizens in Missouri. The Democrats suggest several specific ways this can be done, including a recommendation that "the Missouri Fair Employment Practice Act be amended to include all employers" in the state and that state agencies "authorized to license business or occupations be empowered to suspend or revoke a license when the license holder has violated the Fair Employment Practice Act or the Public Accomodations Acts."

These are only a few areas that both platforms deal with. For further information on these or other areas, contact the Democratic or Republican state headquarters in Jefferson City.

Bond Challenged To Reveal Wealth

ST. LOUIS — Edward L. Dowd, Democratic candidate for governor, has announced his present financial net worth and income from all sources for the past 10 years.

At the time of the announcement, Dowd said, "I challenge my Republican opponent to do the same thing with regard to his present financial net worth and with regard to his income from all sources for the 10-year residency period necessary to be governor of Missouri. I believe he owes this information to the people of the state of Missouri."

Dowd listed his and his wife's holdings as follows: checking and savings accounts, $9,200; 179 shares of stock of the James B. Eads, Corp. of a value of $17,900, residence on Fauquier Drive, St. Louis, and household goods, $40,000; farm in Franklin County, 110 acres, house, barn, livestock, tractor and miscellaneous farm equipment, $28,000; law office furniture and library, $3,000; cash surrender value of life insurance policies, $27,000; 1971 Pontiac automobile, $2,500; 1965 Mercury automobile, $500.

Dowd stated that he owes $20,000 to a St. Louis bank araising out of the primary campaign. Mr. and Mrs. Dowd's total financial net worth amounts to $108,000.

Dowd's primary source of income was his law practice which brought him $42,199 in 1971, $15,958 in 1970, $31,882 in 1969, $35,154 in 1968, $31,405 in 1967, $27,390 in 1966, $36.090 in 1965, $29,754 in 1964, $19,056 in 1963 and $18,092 in 1962.

"Taxes on these amounts were paid to the state of Missouri and the federal government each year," Dowd said.

Dowd had no income from trust funds and none from investments. Dowd challenged his Republican opponent to reveal his income and its sources for the past 10 years.

"Mr. Bond's revelations up to this point," Dowd said, "have been totally unsatisfactory. It is not enough to say that he owns shares of stock in certain corporations and tax free municipal bonds unless he says how many bonds, how many shares, and what they are worth. It is not enough to say, as Mr. Bond did beforethe Missouri Supreme court, that he had more than $2,400 in unearned Missouri trust fund income in various years. Let him say how much and from where his money comes.

"The people of this state are entitled to know the details of Mr. Bond's financial net worth, total income and its sources. It is important to know the extent of his interests so that the people can evaluate the areas of conflict between his private holdings and the interests of the state of Missouri," Dowd added.

Polls Still Put Nixon Way Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — A new poll conducted jointly for Time magazine and The New York Times shows President Nixon leading Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern by 39 points — 62 to 23 per cent.

Moreover, the President has overtaken McGovern even among registered Democrats, 43 to 40 per cent, according to the survey released Sunday. It was conducted by Daniel Yankelovich, Inc., between Aug. 25 and Sept. 12.

The 39-point over-all margin represents an 11 percentage point increase over a parallel Yankelovich survey taken a month earlier which showed Nixon ahead by 28 points — 56 to 28 per cent.

Meanwhile, McGovern aides disclosed the results of a private national poll showing the Democratic contender had whittled the Nixon lead from 34 points to 22 points in the past few weeks.

McGovern campaign director Frank Mankiewicz said Sunday that the poll was based on telephone conversations with 1,500 persons nationwide, all of whom had been interviewed in depth earlier.

The Times said there was an indication in the Yankelovich survey that McGovern may have narrowed Nixon's lead during early September but the shift was so small that it could have been accounted for by sampling error.

In the Time-Times poll, 2,329 registered voters in the 16 largest states were interviewed by telephone. The states account for two-thirds of the total electoral vote.

Over-all, the poll showed Nixon ahead among virtually all age groups, social classes, income levels, nationalities and regions.

He led by 34 points among Roman Catholics, 51 points among Protestants, 38 points among independents, 43 points among middle-income voters, 47 points among Italian-Americans and 54 points in the South.

The most dramatic finding was the President's lead among Democrats. In the previous Yankelovich poll, McGovern led among all Democratic voters, 45 to 37 per cent.

Both the Yankelovich poll and another conducted by the Gallup organization for Newsweek magazine showed Nixon ahead nationally among young voters.

The Gallup poll gave Nixon a 52-43 per cent lead among 18-to-24-year-old voters because of an "enormous" lead among Southern youth. But it said McGovern was leading among the young in the East and Midwest and neck and neck among young voters in the West.

Yankelovich found college youth favored McGovern by 53 to 40 per cent while noncollege youth preferred Nixon by 49 to 34 per cent. Because there are twice as many in the noncollege group, Nixon held an overall margin of 3 percentage points.

Girl Reads About Her Own Murder

CHICAGO (AP) — It was "like having a new daughter born," said the father of a runaway girl who contacted police after her parents mistakenly identified her as one of two teen-agers found slain in a park.

Rosemarie Pilewicz, 17, said she read a newspaper report of her death and thought, "How can the world say this? I'm breathing."

Her parents had reported her missing Aug. 10.

Her return left police with the bodies of two nameless girls, each shot once in the back of the head with a .32-caliber pistol and left lying face up in Washington Park on the city's South Side. They were found early Saturday by a jogger.

Six other women and an infant girl have been found dead in unsolved homicides in Chicago and its suburbs since June.

Asked how she mistakenly identified one of the dead girls as her daughter, Violet Pilewicz said, "The girl was just like a twin. Even the earrings were the same."

Richard Pilewicz, who had viewed the body after his wife had come out of the morgue weeping, told reporters, "I went in and my eyes were foggy and I was shaking and it looked exactly like her."

Asked why his daughter had run away, Pilewicz said, "I don't know ... Maybe my type of life is different from hers."

The Editor:

I am a member of the Statewide Church of Scientology Committee on Public Health and Safety. We have been looking into the activities of the American Medical Association and have found this group is a political monopoly responsible for the rising costs and declining quality of medical care in this State and in the Country.

To wit: At Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland, it was estimated that the actual number of Americans who are made sick yearly by the treatment of their doctors is 1,300,000. Of this number many thousands die, killed by improper medication administered by LICENSED doctors whose knowledge is so inadequate that 80 percent of the time they are not certain of what is wrong with their patients and blindly prescribe potent drugs. And who licensed these doctors? State examining boards, whose members are "chosen" by the AMA. The AMA requests and commands of every State government, the right to dictate who shall constitute the examining board.

Another astonishing fact surfaced recently: Organized medicine is still trying to "buy" congress. The American Medical Political Action Committee (AMPAC) admitted to contributing $700,000 to the legislature. This was the "Above board" amount. How much passed hands "under the board" has not yet been discovered by enforcers of the Corrupt Practices Act.

We feel that much more needs to be "discovered" about this very dangerous and powerful political monopoly.

Sincerely,
Diane Powers

Letters to the Editor
Sikeston, Mo. 63801

Dear Sir:

I have enjoyed poetry ever since I can remember, since my time in high school I have written poetry that has great meaning to me. I had felt that my poetry had no meaning to men or women outside of myself. This was proven to be false.

A person of educational background read some of my poetry recently. He said that he felt that it was really good and that I should try to sell some of it. He then let an author read it and the author wrote that she too enjoyed it. The author went on to say that I should try to get a poetry critic to read and judge it because she wasn't a critic of poetry. She advised me that the best way to get it into circulation is by trying to have it printed in my local newspaper, this is why I am writing you. Would you print this poem in your editorial column and return the copy of the poem to me.

Even if it isn't used, I ask that it be returned. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Herman A. Gardner

Blows Job And Horn

OPPORTUNITY, Mont. (AP) — The would-be thief who attempted to steal an automobile here last weekend apparently needs some instruction in the workings of electrical systems.

Authorities report he crossed the wrong wires while trying to start the vehicle, with the result that he "hot-wired" the horn instead of the starter.

Mary Moore Appointed To Housing Board

EAST PRAIRIE — Miss Mary Moore has been appointed by the City Council to the board of commissioners of East Prairie Housing Authority. Jack Emory was reappointed to the board. Each will serve a four-year term.

The other three members of the five- member board are James Barnhill, Joel Savell and L. B. Presson.

Davis Remains On MML Board

MALDEN — Mayor Sparrel Davis of Malden will continue on the board of directors of Missouri Municipal League for another year. Mayor Davis recently attended a three-day annual conference of the league held at Osage Beach.

1. In Memoriam

In Memory of
DONALD R. HUSK
Sept. 18, 1969

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all

The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,

Advocate Policy To Avoid More Wheat Type Scandals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new plan for placing ultimate control of grain production in the hands of farmers instead of government is circulating among agricultural policy makers.

Advocates say it would eliminate wild price gyrations and chances for scandals like those resulting from last summer's huge wheat sales to the Soviet Union.

The idea, promoted by Hal Hellebust, executive secretary of the Kansas Cooperative Council, is designed to insure price stability in wheat, rice, feed grain and soybean markets.

If the proposal were in effect this year, Hellebust says, wheat farmers in the early-harvest areas of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas would not have sold grain for $1.32 or less per bushel in June and been forced to watch helplessly as the price rose to $2 by September.

Hellebust, interviewed last week, said copies of the council's proposed bill have been circulated among key Nixon administration farm officials and selected members of Congress. Sponsors are being asked to introduce the plan to the House and Senate early next year.

Basically, it would eliminate all acreage-control factors in the present crop program. Annual marketing quotas would be determined on the basis of foreign and domestic demand. Any excess production would be held by the farmer at his own expense for sale under future quota allocations.

The current farm program—the Agricultural Act of 1970—expires after next year's crops are harvested, and Congress is expected to tackle a replacement plan early in 1973.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and other Nixon farm leaders say the 1970 program has worked well, and indications are that the GOP—if returned to office—will seek basically more of the same for farmers after the current program ends next year.

But the Soviet grain sales, amounting to $1 billion this season, have drawn assertions that the Agriculture Department has ineptly represented interests of farmers or had engaged in a "conspiracy of silence" with the private grain traders. The charges are all denied by Butz and grainmen.

Hellebust, says many producers believe massive wheat sales to Moscow were initiated and selaed without any participation or knowledge by farm groups whatsoever.

"Can you imagine the U.S. selling Russia pickup trucks, for example, without letting manufacturers in on the deal from start to finish?" Hellebust said. "But that is what happened to farmers in the wheat deal."

The price of wheat paid farmers shot up in late July, the period when the size of the Soviet grain deal was becoming known. Many farmers had sold wheat in June for 75 cents less per bushel than they could have got by holding their grain until September.

Under strictly enforced marketing quotas offered by the coop plan, Hellebust said quotas limiting the amount of grain farmers could sell would be used to eliminate "abnormally excessive and abnormally deficient" supplies.

When it appears the supply of a particular grain will be too large, the secretary of agriculture would be required to set a marketing quota for at least one year—or a maximum of three—on how much farmers can sell. The sales allowance would be tailored to bring farmers a price equal to full parity, a formula used to equate production costs with gross returns. The quotas would be subject to approval by farmers in a referendum.

In the case of wheat, the parity price currently is about $3 per bushel, compared with the actual market level of around $2 in production areas.

The co-op plan also calls for a government support or floor price equal to two-thirds of parity. Wheat, currently, would be $2.

Hellebust conceded the plan would be aimed at balancing the marketable supply of grain with demand in order to raise cash prices. But, he said, there would be no need then to have the federal government make crop subsidy payments to farmers. Those for 1972 may total a record of more than $4 billion for all commodities.

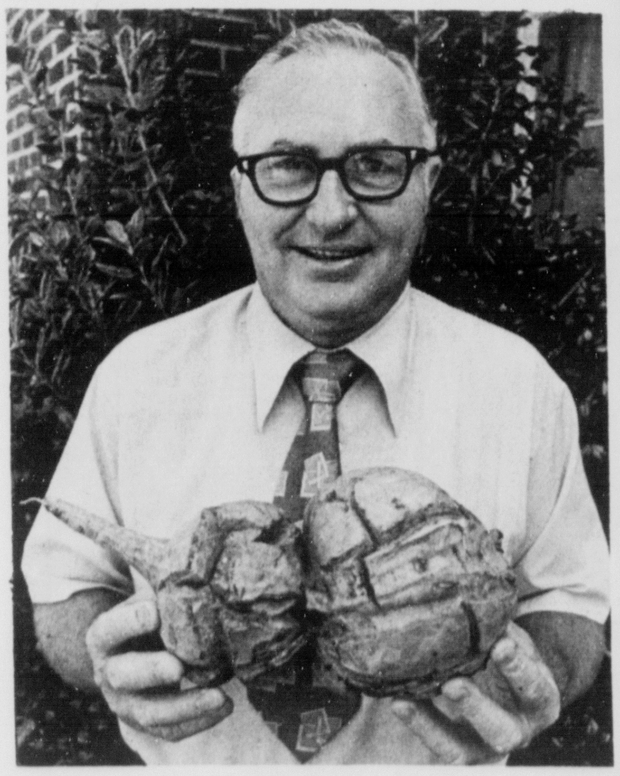

If foreign demand for grain— as in the case of the Russian wheat sales—suddenly emerged, the quota could be adjusted to meet the need. Further, Hellebust said, the mechanism would be aimed at getting the highest price possible for farmers.

Hellebust said cooperatives in Kansas have endorsed the quota-price plan and that efforts will soon be made to get support in other states.

There has been no official reaction from Butz on the proposal, he said.

The new co-op plan is a revised and greatly expanded version of one offered when Congress was writing the 1970 farm act but was limited only to wheat.

"We think our new plan has a much greater chance now," Hellebust said. "This interest over wheat, particularly, because of the Soviet sales is going to be a big help."

CECIL LEWALLEN, pastor of Evergreen Baptist Church at Marston, took up gardening about 15 years ago as a hobby. This year his hobby paid off with the five and one-half pound sweet potato he holds here.

Family Is Reunited By Suicide

CLINTON, Iowa (AP) — United in death by tragedy, the Utroska family comes home for burial today.

David Utroska, a 30-year-old father of three, died Tuesday night, an apparent suicide, authorities said.

His wife and children were killed Sunday when Utroska's plane crashed in Lake Michigan, shortly after takeoff from Chicago's Meigs Field.

A pistol and a note were found near Utroska's body in the family's new home near Davenport, Iowa. Police said he died of a single .22 caliber bullet through the heart.

"It was my fault ..." the note said. "... Sandra can't take care of the children alone ... I know they'll need me."

Utroska, his wife, Sandra, 30; and their children, Kimberly, 11, Kenneth, 10, and Kandice, 6, will be buried in their family plot at Clinton Memorial Park.

"David was a devoted young father, completely wrapped up in his family," said Mae Bentley, a niece.

Utroska, owner and manager of Midwest Aviation in Davenport, had flown planes for a dozen years, friends said.

Utroska said after the crash on Sunday that he tried the takeoff while severe thunderstorms gathered because he didn't want the children to be late for school the next dav.

A shift in the wind caught the plane, and it slammed into Lake Michigan 100 yards off shore. Utroska escaped with facial cuts.

In the ambulance that took him to Mercy Hospital, he kept saying — "I could see Sandra and the kids trapped in there."

Portageville Gets Extra School Funds

HOWARDVILLE — New Madrid County R-1 Superintendent of Schools George S. Reuter Jr. has announced that the Portageville School unit received an extra allocation during the summer for building and repair.

The work was done by Brown Construction Company, Inc. of Dexter at a total cost of $25,846.34, and was for the renovation of the junior high school building at Portageville.

Last year the district allowed a special allocation to remodel the library in the same building to bring it up to proper standards as specified by the State Department of Education. This expenditure amounted to $11,739.64.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures were sharply lower in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today, but corn, oats and soybeans were higher.

On the opening, wheat was 2 to 4¼ cents a bushel lower, December 2.18; corn was ⅛ lower to 1⅛ higher, December 1.43¼; oats were ¾ higher, December 86¼ cents and soybeans were ⅞ to 2½ cents higher, November 3.39.

Deaths

TOMMY WEAKS

NEW MADRID — Services for Tommy Weaks, 75, a retired farmer who died Saturday, were conducted at 2 p.m. today in Richards Funeral Home by the Rev. Edward E. Wolfe.

Burial followed in Evergreen Cemetery.

He was born Nov. 7, 1896 in New Madrid County to the late William Henry and Betty Sudberry Weaks. A bachelor, he had made his home with Mrs. Carrie Weaks, an aunt of rural New Madrid. He had been a patient in Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston since Sept. 8.

Survivors include five sisters, Alice Green, Hazel Sargent, Lotus Hawkins, Lillie Greenlee and Ruby Weaks, all of Indianapolis, Ind.; and two brothers, Lewis Weaks of Indianapolis and Pete Weaks of Lilbourn.

JIMMY L. CLAY

ESSEX — Jimmy Lewis Clay, 34, of Route Two died Sunday at 8:30 p.m. at his home after an extended illness.

Bates Named New Bootheel VISTA Head

KENNETT — Michael D. Bates, a former Volunteers in Service to America volunteer, has been named the new Bootheel- VISTA supervisor, filling the vacancy left earlier this year by the resignation of Joe Marinick, who had held the post for the past year.

Bates, who holds a bachelor of science degree from Illinois State University, was formerly a volunteer in the Sikeston area, where he worked on a summer recreation and tutoring program for elementary children there.

Bates said VISTA presently has four volunteers serving the Bootheel, but added that additional volunteers are expected to be assigned to the area in October.

Namath Passes For 496 Yds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I know it sounds dumb," Joe Namath grinned, "but I've had better days throwing the ball."

If he has, the Baltimore Colts are probably quite happy they weren't around then, 'cause they were around Sunday when Namath demolished them to lead the New York Jets to a 44-34 National Football League victory.

"It wasn't my best bay," Namath deadpanned after rolling up an incredible 496 aerial yards and six touchdowns. "Sometimes I threw it short, sometimes I was long and sometimes where I wanted to be."

His first three touchdowns covered 65 yards to Eddie Bell, 67 to John Riggins and 28 to Don Maynard, followed by three to Rich Caster involving plays of 10, 79 and 80 yards respectively.

The six touchdowns fell one short of the NFL record and the yardage—achieved on just 15 completions in 28 attempts— was third best in the league's history for one game.

In Sunday's other games, Buffalo stunned San Francisco 27-20, New England stung Atlanta 21-20, Cleveland topped Philadelphia 27-17, Dallas defeated the New York Giants 23-14, Miami mauled Houston 34-13, Minnesota mangled Detroit 34-10, Cincinnati slipped past Pittsburgh 15-10, San Diego dumped Denver 37-14, Oakland beat Green Bay 20-14, Washington swatted St. Louis 24-10 and Chicago tied Los Angeles 13-13.

Johnny Unitas didn't exactly have a dismal day quarterbacking the Colts, despite being thrown for losses six times. He still managed to complete 26 passes, a Baltimore record, for 332 net yards, including touchdown strikes of 40 yards to Sam Havrilak and 22 to Tom Matte.

Don McCauley also scored two Colt touchdowns, one on a one-yard plunge, the other on a 93-yard kickoff return, and Jim O'Brien had field goals of 13 and 32 yards while Bobby Howfield had one of 14 yards for the Jets.

Running back Jim Braxton's second touchdown of the game with less than two minutes to go gave the Bills the points they needed to defeat the 49ers but it was O.J. Simpson and Don Croft who played the key roles.

Simpson rambled for 138 yards on 29 carries and Croft, a defensive tackle obtained last week from Baltimore, kayoed San Francisco quarterback John Brodie in the second quarter with a jarring tackle that resulted in a sprained left wrist.

Bill Bell of Atlanta was distraught after the Patriots' victory. "I just blew it," he said after missing a 10-yard field goal attempt with 28 seconds to play.

Trailing 20-7 in the fourth quarter, quarterback Jim Plunkett engineered two New England scoring drives, one ending with a touchdown pass to Randy Vataha, the other climaxed by Carl Garrett's 12-yard scoring run.

Mike Phipps, a third-year quarterback making only his second NFL start, threw for one touchdown and ran for another to lead the Browns past the Eagles. Don Cockroft booted two field goals and Bo Scott plunged over from one yard out for the Browns' other scores. Philadelphia's rookie quarterback, John Reaves, also threw for one touchdown and ran for another.

Tony Fritsch connected on three field goals, Walt Garrison plowed in from one yard out and Lance Alworth caught a two-yard touchdown iass from Craig Morton to lead the Cowboys past the Giants, who got Norm Snead-to-Rich Houston touchdown plays covering 55 and 94 yards.

"They're all No. 1 for me," Miami Coach Don Shula said after his three "first-string" running backs—Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Mercury Morris—ran roughshod over the Oilers for 274 yards. Kiick scored twice while Morris, Csonka and quarterback Bob Griese each scored once for the Dolphins.

"Detroit plays our type of physical game, therefore we're able to out-smash them," said halfback Dave Osborn, who scored three touchdowns in the Vikings' romp against the Lions. One of them came on a 13-yard pass from Fran Tarkenton, who also hit John Gilliam with a 40-yard scoring strike.

The Bengals couldn't manage a touchdown against the Steelers—but they didn't need them. Horst Muhlmann's five field goals covering 41, 32, 20, 32 and 34 yards provided the winning margin.

John Hadl tossed two touchdowns, Mike Garrett barrelled 41 yards for a third and cornerback Joe Beauchamp raced 47 yards with an interception for a fourth to lead the Chargers past the Broncos.

John Brockington slammed in twice from one yard out for Green Bay but Charlie Smith's one-yard plunge, Jack Tatum's record 104-yard touchdown run with a recovered fumble and George Blanda's two field goals gave the Raiders the edge over the Packers.

Tight end Jerry Smith caught his first two passes of the season—both for touchdowns—to lead the Redskins past the Cardinals.

Raiders Begin Cage Drills

POPLAR BLUFF — Three Rivers Community College Raiders' basketball team has begun drills in preparation for its season opening Nov. 11 at home against Southern Baptist of Walnut Ridge, Ark.

Coach Gene Bess welcomes nine freshman and six sophomores, four of which were members of last season's 23-8 club. Returning are Mark Baker, Wendall Copeland, Henry Hall and Ron Johnson.

Bolstering Raider hopes during a 22-regular game schedule and four tournaments will be Memphis State University transfer, Terry Walton, and Lennies McFerren, a member of the 1970-71 National Tournament team that placed fourth. Walton is the tallest athlete to suit up for TRCC.

Coach Bess and his assistant, Gary Holland, had one of their finest seasons of recruiting when they signed seven of Southeast Missouri's top athletes and landed two tall cagers from other areas. Among the seven SeMo stars signed was All-Stater Albri Cassell of Charleston.

"We have fine overall quickness and outstanding jumping ability," Bess emphesized. "But our success will depend greatly upon how well we put our defense together and play as a unit."

Rams Close In On Title

SCOTT CITY -- The Illmo- Scott City Rams established their strong defensive blockade early in the game and utilized an effective offense to maul the South Pemiscot Bulldogs, 27-0, in Bootheel Conference football action Friday night. The win put I-SC at a 2-0 mark in the conference and handed an even 1-1 slate to the Bulldogs.

By the half, the Rams had secured a 20-0 margin over the Dogs, recovering two fumbles in the first quarter and scoring on both for a 13- point lead. Capping their first period performance, I-SC returned to retrieve a blocked kick on the South Pemiscot 20- yard line and romped to the third score of the night.

The Rams were held scoreless in the third period, but recovered their earlier vigor in the fourth stanza to gain a seven- point finale.

I-SC travels to Chaffee next week to face the Red Devils, while South Pemiscot has an open date that night. The following Friday the Rams and Bulldogs are slated for a rematch, this time at Steele.

Scoring by quarters:

Illmo- Scott C	13	7	0	7	—27
S. Pemiscot	0	0	0	0	— 0

Wildlife Silent Service

BOONVILLE —Paul Wunderlich has no love for dope peddlers who run their narcotics by submarine, but it would sure help out his wildlife enforcement if it were true...

Wunderlich, conservation agent for Cooper County, recently had a report from a man who was fishing on the Lamine River when he saw --rather, when he said he saw -- a submarine running dope up the Lamine River.

"The man said he'd grabbed the periscope, beat it with his oar and even shot it with his rifle," Wunderlich reports. "The submarine must have been pretty tough for it paid him, as the man said, 'no never mind'.

"If nothing else," Wunderlich concludes, "a submarine would do an excellent job of clearing illegal nets out of the river."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whether Ara Parseghian likes it or not, his Notre Dame team seems a cinch to move up in this week's college football ratings following a 37-0 trampling of Northwestern Saturday in their 1972 debut.

"As usual, they're always somewhere between good and great," Northwestern's Alex Agase said of the Fighting Irish, who went into the contest with a No. 13 ranking in The Associated Press poll but unveiled a slick sophomore quarterback in Tom Clements and a fleet of hard-running backs— Darryll Dewan, Eric Penick, John Cieszkowski, Andy Huff— who shredded the Wildcats for 386 yards on the ground.

The No. 13 ranking agreed with Parseghian, although he'll gladly settle for a rise of approximately 12 positions when the final ratings are in.

"I'd rather have it that way than being ranked 1-2-3 because we're relaxed," he said. "When you're ranked high, the pressure is on you."

Perhaps so, but you couldn't tell it from the size of the weekend's scores. Top-ranked Southern California, despite a sluggish start, overwhelmed Illinois 55-20, runner-up Oklahoma buried Oregon 68-3 and third-rated Colorado trimmed Minnesota 38-6.

The crusher of all was ninthranked Nebraska's 77-7 destruction of Army while in the only match-up of ranking teams No. 12 Michigan turned back No. 6 UCLA 26-9.

Ohio State, rated fourth, had the weekend off and missed a chance to get in on such fun as fifth-ranked Tennessee's 45-6 trouncing of Wake Forest, seventh-ranked Alabama's 35-0 walloping of Kentucky, No. 8 Louisiana State's 42-17 drubbing of Texas A&M and 10th-rated Arizona State's 56-14 slaughter of Kansas State.

This was supposed to be a rebuilding year for Notre Dame in the wake of heavy graduation losses, but the Irish bolted to a 30-0 halftime lead and Parseghian cleared the bench early in the third period, even using some players who weren't listed on the pregame roster.

Anthony Davis ran for two touchdowns, Mike Rae passed for two and J.K. McKay, Coach John McKay's son, caught a pair as Southern California broke a tie 21 seconds before the half and went on to crush Illinois.

"I told my team at halftime our play was ridiculous," McKay said. "But we came back in the second half and played respectably." He cited his defense for "an uninspired performance."

Oklahoma's awesome running backs churned out 609 yards on 76 carries against Oregon, an amazing eight yards per carry, with Greg Pruitt leading the way with 103 yards, freshman Joe Washington scoring twice and sophomore Mike Thomas ripping off 90 yards on his first varsity carry.

Colorado got two touchdowns each from Charlie Davis and Ken Johnson in thumping Minnesota while Michigan's 381yard ground attack destroyed UCLA."I'm not raving about being a national power," said Michigan's Bo Schembechler, "but I still think we have a good team. We felt we could move the ball but not like that. We knew we had to control the ball to beat an offense as good as theirs."

The Wolverines ground out time-consuming scoring drives of 74, 60, 8 and 53 yards and sent UCLA quarterback Mark Harmon to the sidelines the first period. Harmon said he was "knocked punchy."

Johnny Rodgers scored twice in the first period for Nebraska and the Cornhuskers tallied their next seven touchdowns over a span of nine minutes and 13 seconds—three in the final 3:48 of the first half and four in the first 5:25 of the second half. It was the most points scored against Army in 83 years of football.

With three of its top four runners sidelined, Tennessee went to the air and crushed Wake Forest as Condredge Holloway passed for one score sub Gary Valbuena hit for three.

Alabama's Terry Davis threw for two touchdowns and scored one as Crimson Tide blanked Kentucky and Bert Jones' three scoring passes sparked LSU over Texas A&M.

Kansas State's Vince Gibson called Arizona State "one of the nations best teams" after Danny White passed for two touchdowns and scored two in the Sun Devils' rout of the Wildcats.

Elsewhere, John Skorupan's 32-yard run with an interception climaxed a second-half rally that lifted No. 11 Penn State past Navy 21-10 and Alan Lowry's 34-yard run with his own fumble set up a key touchdown as 14th-ranked Texas opened its season with a rainmarred 23-10 triumph over Miami, Fla.

Tulane used two 80-yard drives in the second period and David Ewing' 57-yard punt return in the third to upset No. 16 Georgia 24-13 while Gary Huff and Hodges Mitchell passed and ran No. 17 Florida State over Virginia Tech 27-15.

Eddie McAshan led Georgia Tech by No. 18 Michigan State 21-16 with a pair of scoring tosses. Stanford, No. 19, shaded Duke 10-6 on Rod Garcia's 48yard field goal and Mike Boryla's 12-yard pass to Bill Scott. And No. 20 Mississippi held South Carolina to 75 yards and one first down and whipped the Gamecocks 21-0.

Bengals Use Aerial Attack

HAZELWOOD —Bill Seabaugh passed for three touchdowns in leading Cape Girardeau Central to its third straight high school victory of the season, beating Hazelwood High, 28 -10, Saturday afternoon.

Seabaugh connected on scoring strikes of eight, 10 and 19 yards while passing for an overall total of 151 yards on 12 completions of 22 passes.

Terry Siebert put the Southeast Missouri grid power on the scoreboard in the first quarter when he scored on an eight -yard Sebaugh aerial and Jeff Hutton converted the extra -point boot.

But the Tigers' tough metropolitan foe battled back to send them into their first halftime deficit of the campaign by scoring all 10 of their points in the second frame for a 10 -7 lead at half.

Pete Blake ran 27 yards for the Hawks and Ken Seaman knotted the score with his extra -point kick. Moments later, Seaman put the Hawks ahead with a 37 -yard field goal.

Central's stingy defense, which had allowed only seven points through its first two games, bucked up and held the Hawks at bay through the final 24 minutes of action, while its offense went to work.

Paul Schermann put the Bengals ahead with a 19 -yard scoring play in the third quarter, catching a Seabaugh pass for the score. Hutton converted and the Tigers were ahead for good.

Siebert hauled in his second scoring pass of the game when he teamed with Seabaugh in the fourth frame for a 10 -yard score with Hutton tacking on the extra point.

Tim Vickery ended the Tigers' scoring with a three -yard jaunt and Hutton kicked again.

Cape totaled 354 yards on the game, running for 203, while the Hawks had 136 on the ground and 60 in the air.

Newberry Runs 64 Yds

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Former Sikeston High School grid standout David Newberry scored on a 64-yard punt return Saturday night as Southeast Missouri State University battled to a 10-10 standoff with Arkansas Tech.

The Wonder Boys from Russellville, Ark., who were National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics runners - up last season, started fast against the winless Indians when Craig Williams connected on a 39-yard field goal in the first quarter.

But the Tribe went ahead in the third period with Newberry's electrifying 64-yard scamper and a Carl Gross extra-point kick.

On the following play, however, Arkansas' Benny Shepherd took the kickoff and raced 95 yards for a score. Williams kicked the extra point for a 10-7 lead.

grid quiz

by Dave Nelson, executive secretary, NCAA Football Rules Committee

An SMU scrimmage kick on fourth down goes into the Texas Christian end zone and is untouched by any Texas Christian players. After the ball touches the ground in the end zone a personal foul is committed by SMU in the end zone.

The official should:

1. Award Texas Christian a touchback, first down and 10 on the 35-yard line.

2. Give Texas Christian the option of replaying the down with a 15-yard penalty from the spot of the snap.

3. Declare a touchback with a penalty.

Answer: Number 1. Award Texas Christian a touchback, first down and 10 on the 35-yard line.

Rule: (6-3-9) The ball becomes dead and belongs to the team defending its goal line when a scrimmage kick beyond the neutral zone is untouched by Team B prior to striking the ground on or beyond Team B's goal line.

Rule: (10-2-1) The enforcement spot for a foul committed when the ball is dead is the succeeding spot.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 25, the 269th day of 1972. There are 97 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the U.S. Congress submitted to the states 12 amendments to the Constitution. The 10 that were adopted became the Bill of Rights.

On this date:

In 1513, the Spanish explorer Balboa crossed the Isthmus of Panama and discovered the Pacific Ocean.

The Prayer from the Upper Room

A certain Samaritan . . had compassion on him. (Luke 10:33)

PRAYER: Help us, O God, to be alive to the needs of our fellowmen. May we show concern by our actions. In Jesus' name. Amen.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Fortuitous Accident

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Seymour was a pushover for insurance salesmen and, consequently, had enough policies to practically wallpaper his entire house. His lack of resistance to insurance salesmen, however, proved fortuitous. He fell out of bed, one night, and with ten different accident and health policies in his portfolio, the accident to collect under all of them, he anticipated collecting a small fortune.

"Sorry to disappoint you, " responded the insurance companies, "but under the law insurance policies are legal only so long as there's no element of gambling involved. And, in your case, there is. Accident and health policies are intended merely to compensate a person for medical expenses and lost wages.

With 10 policies, you'd be collecting better than 10-to-one odds if we all paid off. That wouldn't be compensation, that would be a killing. It would also be gambling, which makes the policies illegal and void."

"Nonsense," protested Seymour. "I never gambled in my life. The fact is, I get nervous just selecting an hors d'oeuvre. I took out all those policies in good faith and I'm entitled to be paid off on them in good faith."

When the payments weren't forthcoming, Seymour sought to collect in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Seymour to collect for his fortuitous accident under all of the policies?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that in the absence of a clause in an insurance policy to the contrary, a person has a right to insure himself for as much as he wants and with as many insurance companies as he can find.

Vo-Tech Note Omitted

In an article titled "Outlines Vo- Tech Ideas," which appeared in Saturday's Daily Standard, an explanatory editor's note was inadvertently omitted.

The interview took place between Dr. George S. Reuter, Superintendent of New Madrid County R-1 Schools, and Mrs. Nadine Townsend, Daily Standard correspondent. It was directed toward answering many of the questions concerning vocational-technical education recently asked by New Madrid County citizens.

The interview, hopefully, will provide some insight into the value and long- range goals of the soon- to- be- completed vo- tech center in Howardville, in particular, as well as vo- tech education in general.
